INVASION OF CHINA'S SOIL THREATENED BY YOURIN

Must Abolish Bands Of Semenoff Et Al, He Tells Peking

TELLS GRIEVANCE

Far Eastern Republic Head Throws Down The Gauntlet

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, July 20.—Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, Mr. Yourin, has delivered the following note to the Chinese Government, in regard to Mongolia:

"After being driven from the territory of the Far Eastern Republic by the population of Transbaikalia, the robber bands of Semenoff and Ungern and other criminals headed by many of their leaders crossed into Chinese territory where they have found permanent and secure asylum. A part of them, despite repeated protests of the government of the Far Eastern Republic was, with the assistance of the Chinese authorities, sent from Manchuli to the Maritime Province, where they have renewed their criminal activities against the people. Others remained in Chinese territory and, concentrating in districts bordering on the Far Eastern Republic, they have not only continued to threaten the safety of the people of the Far Eastern Republic but are at the present time engaged in depredatory invasions of territory of Far Eastern Republic.

"Lately, armed groups of so-called Ungern detachments have begun to cross into territory of the Far Eastern Republic in the districts bordering on Mongolia and Manchuli and have begun terrorising the population of these districts, causing bloody collisions. Meanwhile in the same districts aeroplanes which we have reason to believe belong to the robber bands of Ungern have been seen crossing from the territory of China into the Far Eastern Republic.

WARNING TO CHINA

"The Far Eastern Republic through its representatives has repeatedly drawn the attention of the Chinese Government to the fact that the seemingly independent activities of Ungern's bands are simply the execution of the usual criminal scheme and plots of Ataman Semenoff and his men; that these warnings have not been unwarranted can be irrefutably proved by the order of Baron Ungern issued at Urga on May 15 and captured from the Second Anninsky cavalry regiment by forces of the Far Eastern Republic during fighting at Troitskosavsk. The order literally reads as follows:

"'In the beginning of June Ataman Semenoff will launch an offensive either with or without the support of Japanese forces. I submit to Semenoff.'

"Meantime, notwithstanding these repeated warnings, agents of Semenoff not only have been allowed to organise in safety and plan their plots in Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai, Harbin, Manchuli, Urga, and other places, but in order to facilitate their conspiracy against China and pursue their destructive activities against the Far Eastern Republic under the guise of officials in the service of the Chinese Government have even succeeded in obtaining appointments under the Chinese Government.

"The above-mentioned circumstances, constituting violation of international law, threatened the property and personal rights of the population of the Far Eastern Republic. The Government of the Far Eastern Republic has repeatedly declared its sincere and constant desire for peaceful and friendly intercourse with neighboring Chinese people on a basis of justice and mutual respect, and has expressed this aspiration not only in words but also by a number of acts and measures directed mainly towards the invariable and strict protection of Chinese residing in the territory of the Far Eastern Republic, as recognised in international relations.

EXPECT RECIPROCITY

"Therefore the Government of the Far Eastern Republic has every reason to expect from the Chinese Government a similar attitude towards Russian people in the Far East whom the Govern-

Force Of 210 Men Caught In Narrow Gulley But Fight Their Way Through

(Reuter's Service)

Simla, July 21.—A convoy of 80 armed soldiers, accompanied by 130 followers, were attacked at Shahurtang on the 16th instant by 100 Abdulli and Jellal Khels who occupied positions on both sides of precipitous cliffs, the gulley here being thirty feet wide.

The first volley killed nine of our men, including the officer commanding the advanced guard. The troops became masters of the situation in the afternoon. Two British officers, one subassistant surgeon and thirteen Indians were killed, and 2 British and 14 Indians wounded.

Cut Estimates Says Japan To Heads Of Korean Departments

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Seoul, July 15.—The budget for the next fiscal year has not yet been completed, in spite of the fact that all the departments and sections have been in conference since July 12 until late yesterday afternoon.

It is reported that the new appropriations demanded by the various departments amount to no less than Yen 70,000,000 but as there are no financial sources to meet them, the Government General brought the budget conference to a conclusion at yesterday's session.

The Government General has decided to ask the various departments to reconsider their demands, and a second conference is expected to open in the course of a few days.

Judging by prevailing conditions, it seems inevitable that a loan of Yen 20,000,000 will have to be raised, and the Tokio Government will be asked for a subsidy of another like sum. The Government General is said to have decided to refrain from resorting to increased taxation.

STEAMSHIP CO. PLANS BIG CUT TO HELP TRADE

Osaka-Shanghai Run To Have Three Boats Owned By Strong Syndicate

BUSINESS IS HAMPERED

Chinese Agent Tells Plan Of Company For Betterment Of Communications

The organisation of an extensive service for the carriage of cargoes between China and Japan and other parts of the world at greatly reduced rate is the program of a powerful syndicate newly formed, Tenge and Co., of China and Hongkong. The local agents are Messrs. Kalyosha Company, 5 Canton Road.

The syndicate is composed of a number of influential Japanese financiers headed by Mr. Bunji Okada, former Superintendent General of Police in Tokio.

Both Captain S. Miyata and Mr. Feng Ping-nan, managing-director and general manager respectively of the Kalyosha Company yesterday confirmed the scheme of the new syndicate when interviewed by THE CHINA PRESS.

Captain Miyata is an old resident of Shanghai and an experienced mariner. He is a wide traveler, having been to practically all commercial centers in Europe and America. He advocates constructive co-operation between his country and the rest of the world and deplores the present state of restrained relationship between China and Japan, which, he asserts, is due to an injudicious and short sighted policy adopted by a few politicians in Japan.

MIYATA OPTIMISTIC

Captain Miyata attributed the hostility and suspicion with which Japanese are generally treated by Chinese to this impolitic policy, but feels confident that the efforts which his principals, Messrs. Tenge and Co., are about to make will accomplish much in removing any antagonistic feelings now existing in the minds of the Chinese people.

As a proof of his friendly policy towards the Chinese, Captain Miyata said he appointed Mr. Feng, a Chinese, as general manager of his head office in Shanghai—a position of great responsibility which is usually held by a Japanese in a Japanese Company. Captain Miyata says that this innovation has materially increased the efficiency of the Chinese service in his company and is contributing substantially to the successful promotion of co-operation between the Chinese and Japanese employes.

Mr. Feng, when interviewed, said:

HIGH FREIGHTS THE CAUSE

"Messrs. Tenge and Co., for whom we act in China and Hongkong as their shipping agents have plenty of financial backing. Our main object is to develop and promote various industries. Our company owes its existence to a desire to co-operate with the rest of the world in the great work of reconstruction after the world war. Transportation facilities are essential for the successful rehabilitation of the commercial world and the present stagnancy of cargoes of the world is to be ascribed to high freights and not to any lack of tonnage as is evident from the fact that such a vast amount of tonnage is now lying idle in the different shipping centers of the world.

"Commerce is being strangled by high freight rates, under the influence of which the equal distribution of commodities in different parts of the world is at a disadvantage. It is clear, therefore, that before the world can be placed on a stable foundation again every effort should first be made not only to encourage and facilitate the free movement of commodities, but also to reduce the cost of transportation.

HELP ALL SHIPPERS

"Our policy in making substantial reductions in freight will afford great assistance to shippers.

"We shall help not only consumers but also producers who desire to distribute their products on a more uniform basis.

"There are at present three vessels: Senkai Maru, Yachiyo Maru and Jun Maru on regular service between Osaka, Kobe, Chosen, Dairen and Tientsin owned by the company. Three steamers: Toko Maru, Kifune Maru and Toyo Maru will soon operate between the above-mentioned Japanese ports and Shanghai.

"These shipping activities will be extended until the whole China seaboard and all the ports on the Yangtsze river including Ichang and Chungking will be embraced in the sphere of its operations. We admit that this is a very bold undertaking, but it is bound to succeed, because it affords such distinct advantage to China trade."

OIL FIELD IS IN FLAMES; WORKERS FLEE FOR LIVES

Incalculable Damage Ensues When Wells Ignite In Amatlan Area

(Reuter's Service)

Mexico City, July 21.—A fire has broken out in the Amatlan oilfields. Drilling towers are crashing down, and workmen are fleeing for their lives.

Columns of fire, a hundred feet high, are covering the entire fields and all efforts to suppress the blaze are considered hopeless.

The financial loss is incalculable. Fatalities are feared as the fire is spreading rapidly, and is causing other wells to explode.

Already 4,500 square miles of new country have been surveyed but monsoons are hampering operations.

Asphalt Plant Burns Covering Land With Fire

(Reuter's Service)

Linden, N.J., July 20.—Damage estimated at $4,000,000 has resulted from a fire in the large asphalt plant of the Warner-Quinlan Company.

The flames leapt from oil-tank to oil-tank with terrific explosions, and the building was a sea of fire.

The adjourning marshes, which were saturated with oil, resembled a prairie fire, the flames reaching as far as the neighboring plant of the Standard Oil Company.

The power plant consists of a single 420-horsepower Liberty motor.

7-DAY SERVICE TO S. AFRICA IS AIR BOARD PLAN

Existing Fleet To Be Used To Utmost Is Decision Of The Conference

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 20.—The Air Ministry has issued a communique of the first meeting yesterday of the special committee on air communications, established by the Imperial Conference, to the effect that the committee considered the arrangements necessary in the event of the postponement of the date for the closing down of the airship service, to permit of the final decision of the various Governments on schemes submitted to them for the acquisition of airships.

Estimates were presented involving a considerable expenditure and it was decided that, in view of the limited cargo capacity of airships, the estimates for future services would be for a limited, and possibly irregular, transport service of passengers and mails only to the eastern boundaries of the Empire, while the existing fleet of airships would be used to the utmost extent.

Prior to the discussion on the estimates the committee considered the utilisation of heavier-than-air craft over certain sections of the Imperial air routes, with particular reference to the Cairo-Karachi route.

At question time in the House of Commons today, Captain F. E. Guest, Secretary for Air, stated that assuming that the ground organisation was complete and a regular service established, the following would be the times of airship journeys from England:—to Egypt, two and a quarter days; to Karachi, five days; to Johannesburg, seven days; and to Perth, Western Australia, seven and a half days.

TURKS RETIRE IN FACE OF ONRUSH BY GREEK FORCE

Claim Advance By Hassan Pasha But Admit Loss In Ulek Sector

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, July 20.—The following official Turkish communique has been received here:

Eastern front, Gnuse (? Brussa) sector: On July 10 the Greeks began to advance and met with some success. Hassam Pasha, commanding a column, has advanced through Bodge and Yenidgre in the direction of Bassar.

In the Ulek sector an attempt of the enemy to advance in the direction of Kedmassa was held up at Labafkary. Our troops are retiring in good order and our outposts are still in contact with the enemy. The activity of our flying columns continues. Behind the front they blew up the Nassalli bridge (70 meters long) on the Aidin line.

Use Your Feet And Lose Your Face In West China

By Bruce Hopper

Caravanning in western China has all the high lights of shrieking comedy, much of the up-stage back chat of performers behind the scenes, and certainly many of the discomforts of "standing room only."

The young athletic Samson from the western hills strikes out to tackle the high divides in his seven league boots, thinking the Chinese and natives are impressed by his Alpine feats. Not at all; he loses "face" by walking. Says Yung to Chung: "Yon hustling foreign devil must be a white coolie. He walks all day in the sun, and lets his interpreter ride a mule. It is best not to get familiar with him, for he is probably very stingy."

Nevertheless, the Chinese merchant who preserves his "face" at the sacrifice of his nerves in a sedan chair, arrives at the inn to find the foreign coolie has engaged the bridal suite, and permits no intrusion in spite of his pedestrian humility. Negotiations are opened through the medium of the boy who carries the foot bath from room to room. The result is a gathering of the guests at the table of the master of the inn.

WHY WALK SO FAST

Question number one is always, "Where are you going?" The foreign coolie, generally burns his lips on the tea cup at that point of small talk and is forced to look stupid for a moment. In reply he waves his hand toward the horizon, and repeats the name of some town thought to exist in that direction.

The trialogue goes on, with the interpreter juggling pro and con according to his fancy, and finally the most important question of the tea party is asked, "Why do you walk, and what makes you walk so fast?"

Excuses about health, love of the exercise, small size of the native mules, etcetera, will not go down. The friendly Chinese refuse to believe anybody possessing the instincts of a human being, not to mention the oft-profaned word, romp along over the blistering stones of western China because he likes it. Some mysterious reason is at the bottom of such folly.

Another cause of wonder is the shorts the foreign coolie wears when grinding off his schedule of twenty-five to thirty miles a day. Such ridiculous articles of wear being shrieks of mirth from the inn master's daughter. The bare knees, and heavy woollen golf stockings, confirm suspicions as to the insanity of the stranger.

ENTER THE PIGS

In the midst of the inquest, at which the foreigner is politely asked to explain his raison d'etre, as well as the religion of his grandmother, there is often heard a series of squeals, which sound the same the world over. It is the arrival of the pig-carrying coolies. His corpulent majesty, the pig, is better treated in western China than he ever was in Ireland. He is lashed to a board, and carried fifty or a hundred miles over the mountains to market. At night, enroute, he is given free run of the inn yard, and rooting privileges in the foreigner's cook basket.

Other late arrivals at the inn in Szechuen are the bearers of the white wax insect. During the month of May the eggs of the insect are taken in great quantities from the privet trees around Ning Yuan Fu, and transported day and night to the Ya-Chou and Min river regions. The coolies bearing them are highly paid, and are responsible if the eggs hatch out before arrival While in the inn they open the baskets, and spray the pupae with cold water to staying the bursting moment. Upon arrival in the Min country the eggs are put out to feed on ash trees. They secrete the valuable wax the stems of the leaves.

By reason of the transportation of the white wax insect the month of May is a semi-armistice season between the Lolos and the Chinese. The truce, however, is rather badly kept, for the Lolos continue to

ROTARY CLUB GIVES AMERICAN SCHOOL BURSARY

Scholarship Of $500 Is Birthday Gift From Local Organisation

To maintain an annual scholarship paying $500 at the Shanghai American school was the resolution by which the Rotary club celebrated its birthday tiffin yesterday. The organisation was founded in Shanghai two years ago.

H. C. Norman, president of the club, explained that each member would contribute five dollars, and the deficit would be made up by assessment later. Mr. W. W. Bartlett, principal of the school, is to conduct the competitive examinations, or select the candidate in any way he sees fit. The purpose of the club is to provide for a worthy poor boy.

E. S. Little, Australian Trade Commissioner, spoke upon the need for good understanding between the nations which have interests on the Pacific. He declared Australia needed millions of laborers, no matter from what source.

An intimate talk about the methods of receiving and spending the funds for famine relief was made by Mr. Baker, adviser to the Ministry of Communications. Mr. Baker was actively engaged in the Red Cross relief work of Shantung

Silesian Situation Now Demands Settlement Says Stuart

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 20.—The newspapers state that Lord Curzon has replied to M. Briand's note insisting that the Germans are ready to intervene in Upper Silesia in the event of any anti-German decision on the partition of that territory, and urging the Allies to join in sending reinforcements, and stating that France was sending a division forthwith.

The reply declares that Great Britain does not consider it necessary to send reinforcements to the plebiscite territories in Upper Silesia.

The British Charge d'Affaires has handed M. Briand the British reply to the French note regarding Upper Silesia. The French Government is replying immediately.

It appears that the French are still of the opinion that it is desirable to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia before any decision is taken in order that the carrying out of the decision taken eventually may be assured beforehand.

DELAY IS DANGEROUS

London, July 20.—Telegrams received in London from Sir Harold Stuart, the British High Commissioner in Upper Silesia state that the Allied Commissioners in Upper Silesia are of the opinion that any further delay in effecting a settlement may cause a very dangerous situation, and suggest an immediate partition between the Poles and the Germans and the occupation of the two areas by Polish and German regular troops.

Reuter's Agency learns that Lord Curzon has sent a note to Paris suggesting that a meeting of the Supreme Council should be held at Boulogne on the 28th instant.

TRIPLE NOTE SENT

Paris, July 20.—Advices from Oppeln state that the French, British and Italian Commissioners have sent a joint note to the Conference of Ambassadors calling attention to the necessity of sending reinforcements to Upper Silesia.

LANDSLIDE DUE TO FLOOD KILLS SIX; MANY HURT

Torrential Rains Cut Train And Phone Service In Western Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 16.—Considerable havoc has been wrought by storms in Western Japan during the past few days. In Shimane Prefecture, a landslide covering 3,000 tsubo, in consequence of the continued rainfall, caused more than 25 casualties including 6 Killed. Damage has has been done to buildings and crops.

The telephone service between Tokio and the region west of Nagoya is still much hindered. The storm is gradually passing eastwards, but according to the Tokio Meteorological authorities, will miss Tokio and neighboring districts.

The Kizu and Uji rivers have overflowed their banks inundating the town of Fushimi. A number of houses have been washed away and many people are drowned or missing. Serious damage has been caused to the Kwansai Railway line and traffic is interrupted at several places.

At Kure a portion of the naval arsenal has been flooded making work impossible. About 2,500 men have been thrown idle. Schools have been suspended. Damage to the telegraph and telephone lines is very great.

TARIFF RISE TO MAKE CHINESE ABOLISH LIKIN

Rise In Import Duty May Be Made Contingent On Old Agreement

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 20.—China's request for revision of tariff, in accordance with the provisions of the tariff agreement reached at Shanghai in 1919, is still under the consideration of the Powers.

The question involves many considerations and it is not likely that it will be settled finally for some time.

The suggestion has been made that as a temporary measure a surtax might be employed, instead of increase dues to bring the tariff to an effective five percent.

It is pointed out, however, that in 1919, when the agreement was reached it was anticipated that two years after the war trade would have resumed normal conditions, whereas present conditions are still abnormal.

It is thought probable that Japan will press for compliance on the part of China with the provisions of the additional treaty of trade and commerce of 1903, negotiated by Mr. Odagiri, then Consul-General at Shanghai.

This treaty provides for the abolition of likin dues, the promulgation of proper trade mark and copyright laws, to protect the interests of Japanese nationals, and for the establishment of uniform currency and weights and measures in China.

None of these measures have been carried out, and, while the Japanese Government will join with the other Powers in agreeing to the increased tariff a condition regarding the above measures may be made.

With regard to the abolition of likin dues and the consequent raising of China's import tariff to twelve and a half percent, it is the general belief that in the present conditions the Central Government could not enforce abolition in many of the provinces, and that, therefore, the time is not ripe for that measure.

AND MINSTRELS TOO

Soon will come the village troubadour to play weird melodies on his stringed bamboo, and chant songs of the road. He is very skilful in catching copper cash thrown anywhere within ten feet of his banjo.

The vendor of smokes is also sure to materialise, carrying a huge water pipe with long tubes attached. One supplies his own mouth piece, which he fits to the tube, and starts to puff at the rate of five cash per minute. The vendor has an amusing technique in filling the bowl, and clicking the stem in dumping the ash. It takes ten seconds for each pipeful, about three whiffs.

Darkness settles down, the court fills with smoke from many fires where the mafoos cook their rice, the flies finally get tired of worrying the small community, and the traveller is blessed with a few short winks of sleep. But the squealing of pigs, the yowling of dogs, and the monotonous sound of mules munching beans, do not beat his dreams into pleasant rhythm, unless he has adopted the ways of the country by having an opium night cap.

KWANGSI LOSES PORTS

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 19.—Kwangtung troops are gaining further successes according to reports received in foreign circles today and following their capture of Pingnamyun from the Kwangsi forces, they are sending a second force in from the west to attack the retreating army. The Kwangsi troops have spent their ammunitions and are now hard pressed for supplies, it is said. They failed to get the sea ports they went after and the surrounding provinces will give them no aid.

Mixed Court Jottings

The proprietor of the Wo Mei butchery, 67 North Szechuen Road, was fined $100 by the Mixed Court yesterday for exposing bacon for sale which had not been prepared at the Municipal slaughter house. It was his second offense within the past month and he was warned that if he is brought to court again on a similar charge he will be imprisoned.

In consequence of three attempts to escape from the Door of Hope Mission a girl 19 years of age was brought to the Mixed Court yesterday when the matron requested that she be sent to the Sinza refuge. In her last attempt to leave the mission the girl leaped from an upper window and threatened suicide when caught by the watchman. The girl said that she has been in the Door of Hope for the past two years and that she wishes to return to her father in Honan. The court ordered her confined in the women's jail until a letter can be sent to the Honan Guild requesting that she be sent to her home.

The chauffeur who ran down and killed a Chinese pedestrian on Ping Liang Road last Sunday was sentenced to a year's imprisonment by the special Traffic Court yesterday. Another chauffeur, who ran into and injured a Chinese on Honan Road July 15, was ordered remanded in custody until the complainant can appear. The victim will probably not be out of hospital for several weeks. Eighteen motor car cases were heard by the court, fines ranging as high as $25 being imposed.

Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Yui conducted an inquest yesterday over the body of an 11-year-old Chinese girl who was struck by a motor car driven by H. Takamura on Yalu Road Monday evening. The verdict concluded with the statement that "judging from the testimony of witnesses the car was being driven on the wrong side of the street. The driver, being a Japanese, is not amenable to the jurisdiction of this court." The driver has appeared in the Japanese court, the case being adjourned pending the outcome of his victim's injuries.

Hofer Transferred To Peking Legation

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 16.—Mr. M. A. Hofer, third secretary at the American Embassy in this city has left for Peking, where he will be attached to the American Legation as third secretary. Mr. Hofer has been in Tokio for the past year and a half.

During the war he served with the British Naval Aviation forces and after nine months of service was transferred to the American forces.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

What with the financial stringency and the lack of shade on the streets and the vigilance of the police and all, the begging business has generally gone to pot, thereby causing Kyiu Sunben, who erstwhile was a successful member of the guild, to engage in serious thought.

Having so done Kyiu went and sat him down before a foodshop and inaugurated a policy of observant inaction, until presently there came out of the foodshop one Woo Wong-ziang, bearing sundry bowls of provender on a tray. Maintaining a discreet distance Kyiu followed the food to the residence of Wong Ah-yuh 18 Bing Vong Ka, within which domicile it disappeared. When the coolie, Woo, had emerged emptyhanded Kyiu seated himself once more upon the curb and devoted himself to the performing of a calculation, involving a known quantity of victuals and and an unknown number of consumers, the computation being done in fractions of time.

After a certain number of moments the mathematician rose, stepped boldly into the Wong establishment and stated that he was sorry, but the supply of crockery at the shop was limited and business was brisk and if the Wongs had finished dining he would like to get the chinaware back into action on another order. Mr. Wong assisted him in gathering up the bowls and counted out $1, small money, in payment for the repast.

Kyiu was bearing rapidly down upon a pawnshop when he had the misfortune to run into Woo, en route to retrieve his employer's dishes and collect for the feast, and Woo recognised the bowls which Kyiu had under his arm.

With the food and lodging problem eliminated for two weeks Kyiu should be able to think up a scheme without any leaks in it to try out when he gets into public life again.

ON THE OTHER HAND

Much has been written and sung applauding the fidelity of Fido, but yesterday Yang Ding-ziang turned in a minority report. Yang was brought into the Mixed Court on the charge of maintaining a dog at 468 Urga Road without having secured the Municipal sanction.

Yang protested that it was mockery of justice to insist that he take out a license for this mangy wonk. In the first place the dog didn't belong to him and in the second the animal itself had caused him an entire sufficiency of grief, without the authorities stepping in and aggravating the matter. The dog he told the court, was the property of a man who once had been a tenant in the Urga Road house. The tenant had long since moved away, and had taken the dog with him. But the brute refused to stay in the new location and kept coming back to the old home and foisting itself upon the Yangs and refused to be driven away. It was a problem. The court was of the opinion that the problem might be solved by a visit to the license bureau of the revenue department and charged Yang $2 for so advising.

Russian Opera Co. Sings 'La Boheme'; 'Carmen' Tonight

Puccini's tuneful tragedy of Mimi and her Latin Quartier friends was delightfully sung by the Russian Grand Opera Company at the Lyceum Theater last night when Miss Mashir added new laurels to her previous triumphs before a house that was well filled but not the packed audience that these singers deserve. An ovation greeted the players as the end of the first act when the clamorous audience recalled them not once but four times before the curtain was allowed to rest.

The story of La Boheme is so familiar to Shanghai opera goers that no repetition is necessary, but it is necessary again to call attention to another old story, and most annoying one, which is the way in which the time for the first curtain is disregarded by the audience. The curtain rose last night on time, but it is safe to say that not half of the audience was seated. "Two by three" they came straggling in to the discomfort of the more punctual and no doubt detracted much from the zest of the singers. Something ought to be done about it, but what?

Having administered that chastisement, let us give credit to the singers. It is no easy matter to perspire in every pore while singing one's soul out in a stage snow scene, but the heat did not detract in the least from the beauty of the quartette, "Farewell Sweet Love" in which Misses Mashir and Kazanskaia were ably supported by Messrs. Danilov and Chrijanovsky, and the applause of the audience was warm enough to melt all the snow.

No opera company that has visited Shanghai in the past ever has equalled the Russians in the pathos with which the last scene of this opera was rendered last night. "Mimi thou faithless one," sung to the bonnet of his inamorata by Rudolph (Mr. Danilov) was beautifully done.

The death scene, in which Mimi comes home to die while caressing the muff which the combined resources of the Bohemians scarcely could buy, was perfection itself and the audience roused to a pitch seldom seen in Shanghai, stood in their places and applauded after the curtain had fallen and compelled the entire company to appear for a third thunderous greeting.

Tonight "Carmen" will be sung, with Miss Burskaia singing opposite Mr. Busanovsky. "Faust" will be produced tomorrow night and a remarkable cast is to appear in the production.

Miss Mashir, who was so popular last night, is to sing the "Marguerite," with Karlash as "Mephistopheles," Danilov as "Faust" and Miss Valentinova as "Sibyl."

Mashir and Danilov stood out last night. They proved themselves remarkable dramatic singers. Artists of their class deserve greater support. Shanghai does not realise that the Russian Opera Company includes really great artists. The Company deserves better support here.

MILTON

The Greatest Disinfectant in the World
—and the SAFEST

Milton is more than 70 times stronger than the ordinary (5%) solution of carbolic acid one used to buy, and yet it does not blister or burn. It instantly destroys every germ, and yet it is non-poisonous. It kills smells more effectively than any other disinfectant, yet has practically no smell of its own. It does everything that any other disinfectant can do, and does it better. It does more than other disinfectants can do because it is safe. It costs less than any other disinfectant because in every bottle you get more for your money.

With every bottle you get a booklet which tells you how to use Milton for scores of domestic and personal purposes where you could not possibly use any other disinfectant which had one tenth the power of Milton.

Next time you buy a Disinfectant—try MILTON.

STOP JAPANESE STUDENTS GOING ON KANSU TRIP

Wu Pei-fu Forbids Their Journey into Province Unsafe For Travel

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 19.—Seven Japanese students en route to Kansu were recently stopped by the local military forces on the ground that it was unsafe for them to travel in that region.

The students telegraphed to the Japanese Legation and the Japanese Consul-General at Hankow asking for permission to be secured for them to continue their journey. They had been stopped at Kuangyinsau.

Subsequently a telegram was received from General Wu Pei-fu saying permission could not be given for the students to proceed as the passage of young lads would be altogether too dangerous in the present circumstances.

ment of the Far Eastern Republic represents.

"The above-mentioned facts, however, prove the existence of a quite contrary spirit: manifest indifference on the part of the Chinese Government towards the interests of citizens of the Far Eastern Republic. It is impossible to take any other view of the matter as the Chinese Government while affording asylum in its territory to the bands of Semenoff has not taken any effective measures to prevent those bands from continuing to be a constant danger to the frontier population.

"Such attitude on the part of the Chinese Government is contradictory to its assurances of friendship and sympathy with the Far Eastern Republic. The Government of the Far Eastern Republic is therefore constrained to protest against this attitude on the part of the Chinese Government, and considers it necessary to inquire:

ASKS, "WILL YOU ACT?"

"(1) Whether the Chinese Government intends to take any definite steps to suppress the bands of Ungern in Mongolia whose activity is detrimental equally to the interests of China and the Far Eastern Republic.

"(2) Whether the Chinese Government intends to take decisive steps to prevent the further use of the Chinese Eastern Railway as a channel for transport of troops, munitions, and supplies to the bands of Ungern and Semenoff.

"(3) Whether the Chinese Government intends to destroy bases of Semenoff and Ungern at Manchuli, Tsitsihar, and Hailar.

"(4) Whether the Chinese Government intends to prohibit recruiting of soldiers for the bands of Semenoff and Ungern. The Government of the Far Eastern Republic is informed that not only have no steps been taken to suppress such recruiting but on the contrary, agents of Semenoff and Ungern have availed themselves of the assistance of the Chinese Eastern Railway and have sent their recruits to Grodekovo.

CLOSE TO UNGERN

"(5) Whether the Chinese Government intends to put an end to the activities of agents of Semenoff, of the type of Chreschachitsky, whose activities at different points of China such as Peking, Tientsin, Shanghai, etc., and in the zone of the Chinese Eastern Railway are detrimental equally to the interests of China and the Far Eastern Republic, as there exists documentary evidence of close connection with those agents with the bands of Ungern.

"(6) Whether the Chinese Government intends to suppress those enemies of the Far Eastern Republic who, residing in China and being also enemies of the Chinese people, direct their activities against the Far Eastern Republic.

"Remaining firm in its desire to establish friendly treaty relations with the Chinese people and the Chinese Government, and anxious to establish those relations on foundations of equality and reciprocity, the Government of the Far Eastern Republic expects from the Government of China not only a frank and definite answer to the questions put before it, but also that the Chinese Government will take decisive steps to put an end to hostile plots and activities directed against the Far Eastern Republic from the territory of China.

WILL INVADE CHINA

"The Government of the Far Eastern Republic fully respecting the sovereign rights of China and Mongolia, nevertheless, considers it its duty to declare that it will be obliged to take prompt action against any bands that may encroach upon the interests of the Republic or its citizens, and it is the duty of the Government of the Far Eastern Republic to inform the Chinese Government that if bands of Ungern and Semenoff which have now come in direct contract with the People's Revolutionary Army hereafter continue to concentrate in Mongolia the latter will be compelled for strategic and tactical reasons to pursue and exterminate those bands. The Government of the Far Eastern Republic desires to state that as soon as this has been accomplished the troops of the Far Eastern Republic will be withdrawn.

"Signed, Ignatius Yourin,
"Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic.

EVIDENCE FAILS TO HOLD SUSPECT IN MURDER CASE

Witnesses Who Identified Prisoner As Sikh's Slayer Back Down

The case against the Chinese charged with murdering a Sikh trooper and wounding a Chinese constable after a disturbance which occurred at the New World on the night of June 17 crumb'ed suddenly to nothingness in the Mixed Court yesterday when witnesses—including the wounded man—who had previously identified the defendant as the wielder of the revolver took a reverse stand on that point.

The case was heard by Assessors Blackburn and Ferrajolo and Magistrate Loh and Mr. R. C. Faithful appeared to prosecute. Mr. Krisel, who defended one of the men discharged Wednesday on the rioting charge, was in court and stated that if no one had been appointed to defend the accused and the court had no objection, he would act for the man. Mr. Faithful objected on the ground that Mr. Krisel would be calling his own previous client in cross-examination. Mr. Krisel contended that this was an entirely separate case, but the court, after consultation, announced that it would be better if Mr. Krisel did not defend the accused.

The wounded constable, when called to the witness stand, stated that he did not think the man in the dock was the man who had fired at him. He had been confused when he identified the prisoner in the hospital. He had been only five yards from the gunman when the shot was fired and he was certain that the assassin was a taller man. He was "speaking according to his conscience."

The police testimony showed that the C.P.C. had picked the defendant out of six men led into the room.

The next most important witness, the man whose part was alleged to have been taken by the murderer at the New World in the quarrel which preceded the shooting, also had revised his belief in the identity of the prisoner. In fact, he went so far as to deny that he had previously made any identification and to repudiate written statements taken by the police. Other witnesses "could not be certain" that the accused was the right man.

The detective who effected the arrest of the accused in Hankow stated that the man had told him he was previously a chauffeur in Shanghai but had gone to Hankow because he had run into and killed a Chinese here. The defendant on the stand admitted this but declared it to have been a lie.

When the testimony had been finished Assessor Blackburn said that the court quite realised that the police had been badly let down by some of the witnesses but that the defendant was on trial for his life and could not be convicted on the evidence before the court.

RICE SITUATION FINALLY SETTLED

Shopkeepers Accept Amended Conditions And Instruct Guild To Pay Fees

Final settlement of the recent rice shop controversy in the International and French Settlements and Chinese territory was reached yesterday when the rice shops in the International Settlement accepted the amended conditions of the license and when the rice guild, Chiao Kuo Tang, advanced in a lump sum the fees payable to the Council.

Articles 3, 5 and 6 of the license, these causing the strike which threatened to be one of serious import in Shanghai and vicinity, were amended by the Council following the resumption of the business by the rice shops two weeks ago.

Printed license forms were sent to the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce yesterday, which immediately forwarded them to the rice guild, which in turn called a meeting at 4 o'clock and decided that the guild is to advance the entire amount of fees payable by the shops and distribute the licenses to the respective members on a later date.

Destroyer 'Gobs' Are Given Chance To Visit In Peking

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 19.—Division No. 26 of the Asiatic Fleet consisting of six torpedo boat destroyers, has put into Chinwantao to give the men and officers shore leave. During the stay of the destroyers in harbor, the men will be quartered with the Marine Guard in Peking. The officers will probably visit the summer resorts and the cities of North China.

The ships in the Division are the Long, Hovey, Alden, Chandler, Broome and Southard. The division is commanded by Commander C. M. Austin.

With the division is Lieutenant Commander Cogswell who served with the American fleet in European waters during the war. He was detailed part of the period at Queenstown and Brest and made a brilliant naval record.

SHANGHAI MEETS WILMINGTON SATURDAY AND JAPANESE NINE SUNDAY FOR WEEK-END GAMES

Red Sox-Blue Sox Game Postponed Until Later Date Because Of Arrival Of Gun boat; Japanese Team Composed Of Pick Of Seve n Best Hongkew Nines

WEEK-END BASEBALL
Tomorrow, 3:30 p.m.
Shanghai v. Gunboat Wilmington.
Sunday, 4 p.m.
Shanghai Baseball Club
v.
Shanghai Japanese Baseball Club.

The week-end program of baseball has finally been fixed. The gunboat Wilmington which has been a week or more limping down the well known Yangtsze river, with a bent axle or something, drove into the harbor yesterday at a most opportune moment, and found themselves signed up for Saturday's game as soon as they lit. The managers of the Japanese baseball club, which have been searching over the Hongkew park talent for a picked team to oppose the Shanghai B. B. Club, on Sunday came out yesterday with the word that they were ready.

Saturday's game between the Red Sox and the Blue Sox, which had been contemplated before the whereabouts of the Wilmington was known, has been cancelled. The game most likely will be played about Wednesday evening.

The game Saturday will furnish some good baseball. The Wilmington nine when they were last in port were open for a date with Shanghai, but what with target work off Woosung, Admiral's inspections and what not, the game never materialised. The Wilmington men touted themselves as stronger than the Helena nine which played here once or twice a while back, so perhaps can furnish a good afternoon of the national game.

Sunday's game is expected to draw a big crowd. The Japanese nine which will oppose Shanghai is the pick of individual players from the seven best Japanese baseball teams in Shanghai. They have behind them a good season of baseball at Hongkew park, and during the past week have been working together to get acquainted as a team.

For the Shanghai-Japanese game Sunday, 400 seats in the east, or third base-line wing of the grand stand have been reserved for Japanese fans. It is felt that a large attendance of Japanese supporters of the Hongkew nine will be at the Race Course to cheer their selected team to victory, so that special reservation made was for the added attendance. The central and west, or first-base wing of the stands will be reserved, as usual for members of the Shanghai Baseball club and their guests.

Nothing new in regard to the hoped-for series between Shanghai and the Japanese Osaka Diamond team and the nine representing the Ninth Cavalry, who are now playing in a baseball tournament at Tientsin, has developed since our last issue. The local management is awaiting replies to mail and telegraphic enquiries from Tientsin as to the possibility of these teams coming to Shanghai for a series of games after the Tientsin tourney is finished. There is however a fine optimism among players and fans here that the series can be arranged. The management promises definite information by tomorrow afternoon at the latest as to whether or not these teams are available for a Shanghai series.

The second day's play in the Tientsin tournament was postponed on account of rain. The Peking Marines and the Tientsin All Stars, composed of players from the civilian and the army teams were to fill the second date of the schedule. The game, however, was cancelled. The next game carded was between the Osaka Diamonds and the Tientsin All Stars, with the 15th Infantry and the Ninth Cavalry providing the entertainment for the fourth day.

The Osaka Diamond team arrived in Tientsin on Monday. The Japanese players were reported by the Tientsin press as having made a big impression on the fans there in their first work out. They are all reported to be in perfect condition and confident of winning the championship of North China. There is a wide interest in Tientsin in the series. Business houses are closing their doors at 4 p.m. daily to permit employes to witness the games.

Tientsin is baseball mad, and with reason, for they have nearly all of the baseball talent of the Orient at their ball park, for a tournament extending over two weeks of play. If Shanghai were in the tournament it might be called a baseball classic of the Far East. But Shanghai can't go to Tientsin, so fans here are hoping that the best of the Tientsin tournament teams will be brought to Shanghai.

Roughtown Champ Challenges Winner Of Carp-Dempsey Fight

BY "BUGS" BAER

Beer Sir:

All you remember about your terror, Gink Fowler, is what you forget. My man, "Accurate Andy," gave your man just one little pat of butter, Blooey! Andy timed his speed and Gink started sailing through a yard of daylight saving. He was flying through Wednesday at low noon, when a Swiss cuckoo opened the door. Gink went right through and now is co-partner in an eleven dollar clock. He only comes up for bird-seed every hour on the hour like the Philadelphia and Reading.

Yours until rheumatism is popular,
GERALD NEASON,
Summerville, N. J.

We deny that the Champion of Roughtown ever had desk room in a cuckoo clock. He challenges the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight provided the winner loses. Although an old man, sorrowed by congratulations, aged by home-brew recipes and tinctured with remorse, Gink Fowler rises from the ashes of a fifteen dollar ton of coal to challenge the winloser of the international purse.

He hurls the defi at the world. When he fought them, three by three, he never got enough money to plug a bad dime. He defeated the champion of Loggerheads in sixty rounds and had to pay to get in. This is different from fighting in the navy, where they paid to get out. Gink's address was never 80 Broadway, and we know it. Gink slapped the champ of Riffraff for a row of tombstones in fifty rounds. His share of the purse was a ticket good for one ride on a curbstone.

He also defeated the premier slugger of Ether, Illinois, in eighty rounds. You will notice that Gink's fights always ended in even rounds. He was a roughhouse keeper, but very tidy. His left hand is now as useless as a frog's legs in a restaurant. His right hand is like a cat with two tails. The second tail is superfluous. He thinks quicker than a cold engine starts. His footwork is like the cornerstone of City Hall.

He is now 110 years old, and a graduate of the kindergarten of the underworld. He is eager to meet either Carp or Dempsey and is going into active training.

The Roughtown champ hurls the white feather into both camps. He will open up his own training camp when he receives an offer from any town Board of Rough Commerce.

Any town in the United Cigar Store States is eligible for competition. Reading and writing mayors will have first choice. Send in now.

DENCIO DIES AFTER FIGHT IS STOPPED IN 13TH

Manila Boxer Loses Consciousness After Scrap Is Stopped; End Follows Soon

Further details concerning the death of Dencio Cabanela, light and featherweight champion of the Orient, have arrived in Manila. On July Fourth a cable was received telling of the scrapper's death in Australia.

A telegram dated July 3 at 10:45 a.m. from Eddie Tait, the Manila boxing promoter who took the Filipinos to Australia, sent to the Olympic Club of Manila tells the story of Dencio's death.

The cable follows:

"Dencio fought McCarthy, gong saved McCarthy in the tenth round. Dencio looked a sure winner. During the thirteenth round, although not punished complained a headache. Fight stopped. Dencio ten minutes later became unconscious for four hours, died 1:15 Sunday morning after receiving every medical and spiritual assistance. Dencio was declared medically fit before entering the ring, but postmortem disclosed chronic brain inflammation of long duration which doctor states probably would have caused death any moment. Notify family and press of sorrowful occurrence. Returning with body by first boat."

Australians Score 251 In First Innings

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 20.—Playing against Yorkshire at Sheffield today in sunny and hot weather before an attendance of some 15,000 spectators, the Australians, favored with a hard and fast wicket, compiled 251 runs in their first innings.

Bardsley contributed 71, including six fours, in a somewhat patchy fashion, and Gregory a most valuable 68, including 10 fours, without giving a single chance.

The fielding was good and the bowling excellent, Waddington taking four wickets for 83, and Wilson three for 24.

Yorkshire hit up 29 for one wicket before stumps were drawn for the day.

Bydand Challenge Polo Final Set For Tomorrow

The final match for the Bydand Challenge polo cup will be played off tomorrow afternoon on the Polo Field, at the Race Course, with the "A" team opposing "D". The "A" four yesterday by its win over "E" won the right to compete in tomorrow's final with the "D" team, the only remaining undefeated four.

The teams competing for the cup number five, each with a letter designation. The players and the revised assignments to teams are:

A. team—E. H. McMichael, Dr. C. N. Davis, L. R. Andrews, O. S. B. Rowe and G. L. Wilson, reserve.

B. team—H. G. Robinson, Dr. Billinghurst, A. David, E. Toeg and V. Bicker-Caarton, reserve.

C. team—R. I. Fearon, J. F. Brenan, M. O. Springfield, J. C. Grieg and George Wilson, reserve.

D. team—N. W. Hickling, H. S. Lindsay, W. G. Crokam, J. P. B. Eastwood and A. N. Dallas, reserve.

E. team—C. C. Boyd, E. S. B. Rowe, E. S. Hine, J. H. Liddell and E. F. Turner, reserve.

Play for the Bydand Challenge cup began last Tuesday when "A" defeated "C" by a score of 3 to 2, and "D" won over "B" by the same count. "E" having drawn a bye for Tuesday played its first game yesterday with "A". The latter team won, 4-3. "A" and "D" oppose each other tomorrow in the final.

There has been a keen interest displayed in polo during the past week. Matches have been played every day, and yesterday after the "A"—"E" game for the cup, another club match was played and the sport was enjoyed until dark.

The field has been in excellent condition for the Bydand play. Scoring has been about even. Wins in each match have been by margins of but one goal. The play on Tuesday was believed to have been faster, and kept longer in doubt, but yesterday's match also provided excellent polo.

Tomorrow, should rain not intervene, a keen match of polo will be seen. Both the "A" and the "D" have shown excellent strength and form at play, and it is felt that their contest will be strongly contested. Attendances which have been good during the past week are expected to show a full turnout of members and guests for the final.

With the conclusion of the Bydand cup play tomorrow, the Shanghai Polo Club will for the next week confine itself to club matches. In the first week in August the Peking and Tientsin "Wanderers" will be in town for interport games. From the middle of August on some hard club matches will be gone through to fit the players for the trip south to Hongkong early in September to defend the Keswick cup, which the Shanghai club now holds.

Pennsylvania Runners Set New World Record In The Mile Relay Race

A new world's record for the one-mile relay was hung up at the American Legion games in Philadelphia by the University of Pennsylvania team. The time, 3 minutes 16 3-5 seconds, clipped 1 2-5 seconds from the previous mark established by a Pennsylvania quartet in 1915. The new mark was made in the international and interstate national legion one-mile event, in which Massachusetts finished second, New York third and the Canadian team, made up of representatives of the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, fourth.

CRICKET DRAW IS EXPLAINED BY BRITISH EXPERT

Australians Beaten By The Strategy Of Weaker Teams, Is Answer

Many Americans have been following the test games in English cricket, as well as the various county games, and it is only natural that they have been somewhat mystified at the results. Australia can travel into Scotland, put up a huge score, then put the other side in and get them all out for next to nothing, and yet get a draw instead of a win.

What is the solution?

A game of cricket lasts as a rule three days. Take a weak team. The Australians, with a team of eleven batsmen, can score six or seven hundred runs without trouble, but it takes them quite a time to do this.

Then the other side goes in, and makes a few runs, and at a slow race. To win the game the Australians must get the other side out twice. If the other side can only sit on the splice or bat long enough, the attackers cannot get them out in the given time. The result is therefore a draw. 'Father Time' has beaten the Australians.

This explains a riddle. The Australians have beaten practically every good county team, as well as All England teams—but they have drawn with weak teams. Why? Weak teams allow the batsmen to pile on huge scores. Huge scores take time. A game must be finished in three days. Six hundred runs probably take two days to score.

To win the game, the leather hunters must be dismissed twice, or in other words, twenty wickets must fall. To do this in a day, or a day and half requires some going on the part of the googlies and other trundlers. That is why a weak team can usually get a draw while a strong team can only manage to lose respectfully.

ENGLISH CRICKET WEAKNESS ASSIGNED TO POOR BOWLING; AUSTRALIANS BETTER TRUNDLERS

BY F. M. CARRUTHERS

The art of the bowler at cricket has undergone marked development during recent years. In the days of Richardson and his contemporaries we thought every secret had been revealed, and that there was nothing more to learn. But then came Mr. Bosanquet, with his googlies, and at once a new era was opened up.

In the meantime, too, players of ball games have made a close study of the flight of the leather, and have discovered that it is possible to perform all manner of tricks in the air. Perhaps the greatest artist at this is the baseball pitcher, who is said to be able to make the ball swerve as many as five different ways.

HARD TO EXPLAIN

In comparison with the cricketer his task is easier, inasmuch as he uses a smaller ball, and is able to grip it more completely. Still, he has developed a very remarkable skill, as we saw during the war, when an American syndicate tried very hard to establish the game in England. But whilst we could appreciate the wonderful play of the pitcher, the wild swiping of the striker—for it seemed nothing less to us—and the interference of the "rooters" rather spoilt the game from our point of view.

At the same time the baseball pitcher has probably had an influence on the bowler at cricket. At least, he has shown that it is possible to make the ball do many puzzling things in the air. But to most of our swervers the trick has come naturally, and without much cultivation. I believe that George Hirst has admitted that he was not very sure how he contrived to make the ball take a curl before reaching the batsman, and other players have been equally in the dark.

What is it that makes the ball swerve? The scientific explanation is that when a ball is flying through the air a small cushion of compressed air forms in front of it and causes it to curl. Again, a ball will swerve more when it is new and before the polish has been knocked off. It is for this reason that the reputed swerver on a side is always put on to bowl whenever a new ball is brought into play.

AFFECTED BY ATMOSPHERE

Similarly, the density of the atmosphere has an effect. For instance, Hirst's swerve was always more pronounced in the smoke-laden air of the town than in the clearer atmosphere of the country ground. Indeed, out in Australia and South Africa the swerver has never been very successful.

Another adept swerver was Albert Trott, and it was significant that before he came to settle down in England he was a baseball player in Australia. And Trott could make the ball curl in a way that I believe has baffled every other bowler to imitate. He had the knack not only to make it swing, but to cause it to duck just as the batsman was about to play it.

The swerver has given a fresh interest to cricket, but an even greater development has been the googlie. Do you remember how, when Mr. Bosanquet first began to deliver this ball, we all laughed and called it "tosh!"

Health, Beauty And The Home

Children's Parties

By Mrs. Christine Frederick.

The Distinguished Authority on Household Efficiency.

IN every home where there are children the problem of entertaining them with parties on their birthdays, on holidays and other occasions is one that frequently arises. To many mothers all such entertaining seems burdensome, but taken in the right spirit and with proper planning there is no reason why a children's party should be too much bother or too much expense.

Such affairs give great delight to children, and certainly they ought to be entitled to them frequently, provided the parties are not given too fancy a trend and are not accompanied by too elaborate foods.

First let's talk about decorations. Probably in the child's mind the appearances or decorations are fully as important as the edibles. Just the very thought of being in a gayly decorated room bright with color and gazing on a wonderfully ornamented table is quite a "party" all in itself for the average child.

Crepe paper and paper novelties are the mother's best assistance here. Almost any stationery store will supply the wide rolls, or the two-inch rolls which come especially for twining and overhead use.

The narrow rolls can be unwound, twisted and crossed with contrasting colors and arranged in all kinds of "streamers" either from the central chandelier, across the room, or descending over the table.

The paper having a colored border of figures can be adapted in novel ways. The entire width may extend around the room like a frieze, or in the case of small children it may be fastened along the walls about three feet from the floor, where they can see it easily. Sometimes the figures may be cut out and pinned attractively. We have the "Sunbonnet Baby," "Mother Goose," "Cupid," "Cherries and Hatchet," and a wide variety of animals to choose from in this kind of paper, which comes in all colors.

This same wide roll can be used as a table cover, for it is wisest not to trust good linen where there are small persons who spill. Use sufficient of this paper of appropriate design to make a cover for the table. Napkins can generally be secured in similar design, thus saving all washing and worry about damage to linen. Sometimes portions of this decorated paper can be cut out, mounted on cardboard and used for central decorations or for place cards or favors. Paper plates and other paper dishes are highly ornamental and mean a great saving in work.

The arrangement of the table may be simple or very elaborate. Some sort of centrepiece should be designed, typical of the day. This may be a cannon or flags, etc., for patriotic days, or hearts, cupids and everything light and dainty for Valentine's Day. A Jack Horner's pie containing small gifts fastened to ribbons or strings to be pulled out by each small guest always creates merriment.

For a party for children under eight years old a Noah's Ark with the animals walking in procession makes an attractive centrepiece. For place cards use pictures of animals and for favors little animals of celluloid or wood. The decorations should be in bright red and white, in pink and white or in mixed rainbow colors.

The refreshments at a party for children of this age may include weak cocoa, small cookies or plain sponge cake, vanilla ice cream and gayly striped stick candy. For older children the menu may consist of simple sandwiches, ice cream, sponge cake, fruit, nuts and plain candies.

Children's parties should preferably be held in the afternoon, and the refreshments given early in the affair. This will occupy some time, thus preventing too much hilarity. It is also much wiser to let the children have the refreshments long enough in advance so as not to interfere with their home dinner. Do not make the mistake of serving too much sweet food or any really heavy, rich food to a child. Only sponge or angel cake mixtures are desirable—not fruit cake, nor cake with rich icings and fillings.

The secret of a successful children's party from the entertainment end is to keep the children constantly moving from one game or interest to another. If sufficient interesting play is not provided and well thought out in advance, the children are sure to begin to get noisy and restless. All the material for their games or other amusements should be provided in advance and laid on some convenient table.

Either mother or aunt or older sister should take real charge of the affair and marshal the children from one thing to another. It is best not to have too many children, it being difficult to handle more than twenty as a rule. Piano or other music can be of great assistance, especially if the children know some of the songs.

If one older child has a magic lantern or a magician's outfit, such as is now a common toy for a boy, or can do "shadow pictures" or any special stunt, it will prove a great help in the entertaining.

Your Precious Eyes

By Lina Cavalieri,

The Most Famous Living Beauty.

THE good housewife knows that nothing is so necessary for ventilation as having the windows in good working order, so that the air may be readily admitted or expelled. So she is careful to keep the pulleys in good running order, and if a frame becomes swollen from moisture she at once has this defect remedied.

If we were as careful to keep our eye motors in good working condition there would be far less call for eyeglasses, with the expense and lack of beauty which their use entails.

The pupil of the eye, which dilates in the dark and contracts in the light, is the original soul window. It is merely a hole which becomes smaller or larger as the pulleys of the iris contract or relax.

You know that all muscles feel better when they are evenly exercised, and you realize how refreshing the darkness is after spending much time in a bright light.

One of the easiest ways of keeping yourself fresh is therefore to close the eyes from time to time and enable the muscles which have been holding the pupils into pin points to relax. For closing the eyes is equivalent to going into the dark.

The part of the eye which most closely resembles a window, however, is the lens which is placed right over the iris or colored part of the eye.

If the lens loses its transparency, as it does in cases of cataract, it is as impossible to see as it is to look out of a pane of glass which has been covered with paint.

A number of little muscles move the lens forward or back according as the object to be observed is near or far away. Yet because so many parents and teachers forget that the tiny eye muscles must be evenly used many a boy and girl is obliged to wear eyeglasses for the astigmatism which is caused by lack of even work among the tiny lens muscles.

The best way to keep the muscles of accommodation in good condition is to remember that you possess these tiny structures and offer them a change of work.

If you are playing bridge, at the end of each rubber, if not oftener, make it a point to look far down the room and carefully get the details of the costumes or decorations down there well in your mind's eye. If you are reading or doing other close work raise your eyes every half hour or so and look out of the window.

Aside from considerations of health the habit of mobility of all these tiny eye-muscles makes for beauty and intelligence in the countenance of their possessor, for then when the moods change the expression of her face reflects these changes as a limpid pool reflects the passing of clouds and sunshine.

I am not mentioning the various moods or ideas which may shine out through your eyes when these latter acquire the art of responding quickly to your mental stimulus, for this subject would require a whole course of study. Yet sympathy with the life around one and a well-stocked mind would be the two principal topics of the entire study.

When one of the greatest of our old masters painted the cleverest woman of the day he imparted so much of this look of movement to her features, though they are in repose, that to this very day Mona Lisa's laughing eyes are storm centres which draw her admirers and detractors into battle.

And what greater reward could be asked by a clever woman than to be a mental stimulus to the world for many centuries after her departure?

Secrets of Beauty

PLEASE publish a simple home-made recipe for bleaching dark eyebrows.—WAITING.

A half dozen drops of ammonia in a basin of water will bleach the eyebrows very effectively. Also, one teaspoonful of peroxide of hydrogen in a little water will lighten without injuring them. Apply repeatedly until the desired shade is secured.

EVERY morning when I get up my eyeballs are excessively yellow. What should I do for this?—M. F.

Your general health is in poor condition. A half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda or of pulverized charcoal could be taken to advantage in a glass of water in the morning or before retiring for the night. Also, I would advise long walks, a more balanced diet and plenty of fruit.

I HAVE a growth of hair on my neck that is very noticeable. Is there no way to remove it except the electric needle?—MAY.

If I were you I wouldn't bother myself about that superfluous hair on my neck. I am sure people notice it far less than you think. If the growth happens to be unusually conspicuous, bathe it many times daily with equal parts of peroxide of hydrogen and water. In extreme cases there is no objection to a daily neck bath of pure peroxide of hydrogen.

THE bones just above my chest are very prominent and embarrassing to me. How can I cover them with flesh and make my arms and shoulders plump?—EIGHTEEN.

To overcome excessive thinness and pad your bones with the necessary flesh you must put yourself on a more nourishing diet and take a long walk in the open air every day. Also, each night before retiring, massage your chest, arms and shoulders with this emollient cream which will aid materially in filling out the hollows and giving you the much-desired curves and contours:

Oil of sweet almonds	6 ounces
Oil of bitter almonds	20 drops
Balsam of tolu	1 dram
Essence of orange	6 drops
Essence of cajeput	6 drops

THE skin around my nails is ragged and uneven. How can I correct this?—MARIE L.

If the flesh about your nails breaks and tears it is because you have permitted it to become too hard. After washing and drying the hands thoroughly press the flesh back from the nails with a towel. Then rub cold cream into the dry skin before retiring, or soak the fingertips in a bowl of olive oil daily until they become soft.

WILL you please suggest something to make my neck and arms soft and white?—ISABELLE.

A well-made honey paste, applied every night before retiring, will have softening and bleaching effect on a tanned or merely discolored skin. It can be made up in the following proportions:

Ground barley	3 ounces
Honey	1 ounce
White of one egg.

Wash off in the morning with tepid rose water.

I HAVE a very dark complexion and would like to know what steps I could take to make it lighter.—A. C. R.

A good bleaching lotion can be made by mixing together one and one-half drams of citric acid, five ounces of rot water, a dram of borax and half an ounce of glycerine. Dissolve the acid and borax in the hot water and add the glycerine later. Allow to stand overnight, strain and set away until ready for use. Apply several times daily and at night just before retiring.

I WOULD like to make up my own tonic for use in my hairdressing parlor. Then I can be sure it will be mixed correctly. Will you please give me a good formula for this?—J. R. S.

Below is given the formula for a wonderfully good hair-tonic which has the unqualified approval of experts both in this country and in Europe:

Sulphate of quinine	30 grains
Tincture of cantharides	1 ounce
Glycerine	1 ounce
Powdered borax	16 Grains
Alcohol	2 pints
Water	2 pints

Dissolve the quinine in alcohol and the borax in water. Add the other ingredients. Allow the mixture to stand for one week. Then filter through paper.

Indifference Worse Than Jealousy

TOO much indifference on the part of husband or wife is really quite as harmful as foolish jealousy—and often more so. To have a cold and stony eye is quite as detrimental to married happiness as to have an ever-watchful, fiery, green eye. It is quite as bad for a couple to lead the kind of a life where one goes out just as the other comes in as it is for them to lead each other always about by the hand.

We laugh at the husband or wife who watches every smile, every eye wink and every gesture when either is engaged in conversation with the opposite sex. But we shudder for the future of the couple who deliberately "carry on" before each other's eyes with absolutely no concern.

We know the jealous couple will "have it out," and most likely "kiss and make up," but as to the future of the non-jealous we shake our heads.

Of course, we all know the over-jealous, "sensitive-plant" type of hysterical husbands and wives. They have been in the courts, the newspapers, the doctor's office and the sanitariums. But, after all, there is real love behind all this.

But the cold and indifferent eye is unnatural, almost uncanny. A wife or husband who has no concern about what the other does or says, has certainly lost "enthusiasm" if not affection. All the sparkle and dash of love must be dead and buried.

Jealousy is a natural trait for human beings to possess. "What's mine is mine," is a characteristic belief even of childhood.

The baby's first interest in life is when he sees a bright red ball or a woolly, fluffy dog. His hands go out involuntarily with "I want!" From that time on the toy is his. If any other child takes it away from him he cries until purple in the face.

And if this baby didn't know what he wanted and didn't know enough to be jealous when another took it away we would rightly pronounce him a fool, not a typical child.

It is perfectly natural for husband and wife to be jealous when there is the slightest, tiniest speck of reason. And wherever there is deep-rooted love, jealousy will appear at the slightest cause for it.

Between happily married couples a sort of telepathy, or eye communication and series of ear-burning messages, when parted, exists. This peculiar condition enables the average couple to read each other's thoughts. And the moment either gives a slight cause for jealousy it ought to be felt, and keenly felt, by the one who has cause to be anxious.

If this condition exists and couples are closely united by a communication of the eyes, the heart, the soul and even those awful ear-burnings, things are as they should be. But if a married couple have nothing but a meaningless, cold eye for each other and no means of communication but by the mere tongue, which often fails to express the deepest emotions, they are not as closely bound by matrimonial ties as might be desired for their future welfare.

A wife with her husband in khaki was recently visiting some friends. The husband looked depressed and sad of countenance.

"Francis doesn't think I worry enough about him," explained the little wife; "he thinks I am too indifferent about his going to France! But I think we should always make the best of things!"

Francis looked a little sadder and swallowed down a deep sigh.

How much happier he would have felt to have left that wife with just a little sparkle of feeling in her eye!

How much more love he would have felt he possessed!

Every man and every woman likes to feel that they are guarded carefully. The protective arm of love is a very comfortable, staple thing.

The green eye with all its fire of love has made many a heart thrill with happiness. But the still, calm eye of indifference does not draw love to it. Jealousy never makes as much unhappiness as indifference.

Household Helps

Round Corners.

THE really efficient kitchen has only round corners on all shelves and tables.

A Strength Saver.

HOUSEWORK is ever so much easier in the kitchen where the heights of the sink, stove, tables, tubs, etc., are fitted to the height of the worker.

Handy Shelves.

ESTIMATE the number and height of things to be stored and build your shelves to fit, having the larger shelves at the bottom. No shelf should be less than one foot from the floor nor higher than six feet.

Delicious Desserts

By Mary Lee Swann,

The Well-Known Writer and Lecturer on Cooking.

Lemon Sauce.

MIX 3 tablespoons cornstarch with 1 cup sugar. Stir slowly into 2 cups boiling water. Cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the grated rind and juice of 1 lemon and 2 tablespoons of butter.

Tapioca Delight.

DISSOLVE ¾ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon salt in 4 cups hot coffee which has been strained. Add 1 scant cup minute tapioca. Cook over hot water until the tapioca is perfectly transparent. Add ½ cup chopped nut meats and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Chill and serve with cream.

Lemon Rice Pudding.

PICK over and wash rice and cook until tender. Mix 1½ cups cooked rice (which has been salted) with 1 egg, ½ cup sugar and 3 cups milk. Add the juice and grated rind of ½ lemon. Pour into a buttered baking dish, set in pan of hot water and bake slowly until firm in centre. Serve hot or cold.

Spiced Pudding.

SOAK 1 cup browned bread crusts in 2 cups scalded milk until soft. Then press through coarse sieve or potato ricer. Add ½ cup cane molasses, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon cloves and ½ cup raisins. Bake in a moderate oven, stirring occasionally at first. Serve with thin cream.

Dutch Apple Cake.

MIX and sift 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt and 4 teaspoons baking powder. Work in 4 tablespoons butter and add 1 egg beaten and diluted with 1 cup milk. Spread ½ inch thick in a greased shallow pan. Pare and cut 2 apples in lengthwise sections. Lay in rows in the dough with the sharp edge pressed lightly into the dough. Sprinkle with 3 or 4 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in a hot oven ½ hour.

Apricot Tapioca.

SOAK 6 or 8 dried apricots in cold water overnight. Then cook them until tender. Cover 1 cup pearl tapioca with cold water and soak about 1 hour. Drain off cold water and add 3 cups boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook over hot water until the tapioca is perfectly transparent. Add ½ cup sugar. Place the apricots in a buttered baking dish, pour the tapioca over them, add apricot juice and bake in a moderate oven about ½ hour. Chill and serve with custard or cream.

Princess Pudding.

BUTTER a large dish and fill with alternating layers of buttered bread crumbs and hot sweetened fruit with the juice. Let stand several hours to chill. Unmold and serve with cream and sugar.

Indian Pudding.

SCALD 1 quart milk over hot water. Pour the scalded milk over ½ cup sifted cornmeal, stir carefully and cook about ½ hour. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons ginger and ½ cup molasses. Pour into buttered pudding dish and bake slowly about 2 hours. When half done add 1 cup cold milk and finish cooking.

Eggless Steamed Pudding.

MIX and sift 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon allspice, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Add 1 cup chopped raisins. Mix ½ cup cane molasses, ½ cup milk and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Add to flour mixture and beat vigorously. Turn into greased molds, filling a little over half full, cover and steam 2½ or 3 hours. Serve with sauce or rich milk.

Strawberry Cornstarch Pudding.

BLEND ½ cup cornstarch with ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 cup strained strawberry pulp. Pour 2 cups boiling water into this mixture. Bring to boiling point, stirring constantly, and then cook ¼ hour over hot water. Cook slightly, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and pour slowly over 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Beat vigorously and pour into individual molds which have been dipped in cold water. Unmold and garnish with sugared berries. Serve with or without cream.

Chocolate Bread Pudding.

ADD 1 cup stale bread crumbs, 1½ squares chocolate and 1 cup sugar to 1½ cups cold milk. Cook over hot water until a smooth paste is made. Beat 2 egg yolks and add ½ cup milk. Stir into the hot mixture and stir constantly until the egg thickens. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Turn into buttered pudding dish, cover with meringue and bake in a moderate oven until delicately browned. For the meringue beat 3 egg whites until light, then add gradually ½ cup powdered sugar and beat until stiff. Add a few drops of vanilla. When meringue is brown set aside to cool and then place in an icebox to chill.

Miniature Exposition Held Of Australian Products

Mr. Edward S. Little, Trade Commissioner In China, Gives Interesting Address

A miniature exposition but one containing a bewildering array of Australian products of every sort was staged yesterday in the meeting room of the General Chamber of Commerce where Mr. Edward S. Little, Australian Trade Commissioner in China, addressed a large gathering.

In the list of displays were not a few surprises, for not only were there specimens of wool and woollen products in great variety along with other goods more or less familiarly known as Australian products, but also there were to be seen extensive displays of things that the ordinary individual never dreamed were being manufactured today in Australia. All of which together with the presence of the dynamic trade commissioner, Mr. Little, indicates how actively Australia is reaching out for world markets and particularly for markets in China.

Besides large quantities of preserved products in glass and tin such as fruits, meats and vegetables, among the unlooked for displays was a complete line of perfumes and toilet articles, men and women's hats, finished leathers of all kinds and a made-in-Australia phonograph.

A large gathering listened with interest to the brief address that Mr. Little made. He explained the purpose he has come to Shanghai to carry out and told something of the growth and development of industries and trade in Australia.

The speaker told of the need of establishing direct shipping lines between Australian ports and Shanghai and explained steps that have been taken to render available this direct service. He went on to reply to charges he said had been made against Australian manufacturers and shippers.

Mr. Little explained that it had been asserted that manufacturers in Australia had proved themselves ignorant of conditions in the Far East and that they had neglected to study these conditions so that they could adapt their products and their methods of packing to them with the result that dealing with them resulted in an unsatisfactory manner. He pointed out that the charges that have been made against Australian shippers at one time were made against exporters in Great Britain and America and he asserted that every effort now is being made to correct abuses and to meet conditions of every sort. With the full support of the Australian Government, he said, a vigorous effort is being put forth to make a place for Australian goods in the China markets and he emphasised the offer of his own services to dealers in China in connection with the handling of Australian goods.

Continuing the speaker said that originally products supplied from Australia were 'primary products' of the country such as butter, dairy products, wool and hides, but he added that now a large list of secondary products,' manufactured articles of every sort, are now being offered to foreign markets and he gave a long list of examples.

At the conclusion of the address the gathering examined the various displays and all those interested in particular lines were given explanations and information.

1921 Exports To U.S. Are Far Under Last Year's Mark

Consular Report For First Half Of Year Shows Decrease Of Nearly 25 Percent

Exports from Shanghai to the United States dropped off nearly 25 percent in value in the half year period ending June 30 as compared with the same period last year, according to a report showing quantities and values of declared exports issued yesterday at the American Consulate. The total value of exports for the period is Gold $37,198,285 which is G. $11,787,573 less than the total for the first half of 1920 when the value of goods shipped was G. $48,985,858.

Products shipped, the value of which ran over the million mark in the half year were laces and embroideries, goat and kid furs, gold bars, hair nets and silk. The value of laces and embroideries exported was $1,468,206, an increase over the same period in 1920 when the total was $1,102,723. The exports of goat and kid furs, the largest item in the list of furs, dropped in 1921 to $1,175,325 from $9,991,276. Gold bar shipments in the past half year amounted to 14,146,685 against none exported in the 1920 period. The value of exports of human hair nets in the six months of 1921 increased to $1,352,148 over $1,268,200 in 1920.

Raw silk exports in the half year for 1921 totalled in value $11,878,025, as compared with $14,468,415. Indicating the effect of shifts in exchange rates and changes in prices the report shows that while the value of raw silk exports fell off $2,590,390 this year the quantity of raw silk shipped this year was nearly double that of last year. In the past six months 2,506,149 pounds of raw silk were exported and in the same period last year only 1,394,013 pounds were exported.

Among the products exported that show marked decreases in value for the half year period as compared with 1920 are antimony $11,498 in 1921 and $61,015 in 1920; amber jade and other ornaments, $22,392 in 1921 and $78,613 in 1920; bristles, $69,419 in 1921 and $335,602 in 1920; sheep casings, $8,588 in 1921 and $431,435 in 1920; albumen, $35,281 in 1921 and $1,923,705 in 1920; crude camphor $98,677 in 1921 and $816,852 in 1920; musk, $50,968 in 1921 and $204,591 in 1920; raw cotton, $24,069 in 1921 and $621,264 in 1920; egg yolk $20,801 in 1921 and $590,813 in 1920; egg powder, none in 1921 and $1,094,931 in 1920; feathers and down, $124,434 in 1921 and $730,892 in 1920, shelled peanuts, $61,476 in 1921 and $699,366 in 1920; buffalo hides, $38,944 in 1921 and $554,320 in 1920; cow hides, $6,412 in 1921 and $143,685 in 1920; wood oil, $26,985 in 1921 and $326,259 in 1920; tea, $696,405 in 1921 and $1,519,752 in 1920.

Among products exported that show increases in value for the half year period as compared with 1920 are wool carpets, $47,127 in 1921 and $36,731 in 1920; electric lamps, $21,295 in 1921, none in 1920; fresh eggs, $135,598, in 1921 and $96,831 in 1920; jade ware, $12,901 in 1921, none in 1920; tungsten ore, $62,970 in 1921, $15,241 in 1920; porcelain, $38,971 in 1921, none in 1921; linseed $14,100 in 1921, none in 1920, and sheep's wool, $393,627 in 1921 and $49,545 in 1920.

Exports for the past half year to the Philippines were valued at $605,333 and to Hawaii, $36,177.

BOLD BANDITS IN KIANGSU KIDNAP BOY FOR RANSOM

Genl. Bei Takes Field After Executing 32 Evildoers He Had Captured

(China Press Correspondence)

Suchien, Kiangsu, July 17.—For some time past, the bandits in North Kiangsu have been growing worse and worse. The robbing of large villages is an everyday occurrence. People are being carried off from the roads at any hour of the day, and held for ransom. Boats on the canal are robbed regularly. The growth of the crops makes the situation all the worse, of course, as it affords an easy hiding place in any part of the country, whenever it may be needed.

A short time ago an eighteen year old boy was kidnapped from his home inside the mud wall of Suchien city. A few bandits entered the mud wall, either going through the open gate or climbing the wall. They went to the boy's home, which is on an important street of the city, one which is not deserted at that hour of the night, about ten or eleven o'clock.

Probably some one inside the yard opened the outer gate, then the robbers kicked open the door of the house, went into the inner room, pulled the boy out of his bed, carried him out over the mud wall, and escaped into the open country. Impossible sums have been demanded, and the boy has not yet been ransomed. Thousands of other persons have met the same fate, but we mention this instance as showing the boldness of the bandits. The city is supposed to have police, local militia, and regular troops.

Though some of the missionaries live outside the city wall, they have never been molested. A short time since, bandits stopped a family of Americans riding on a houseboat, took possession of the boat, and proceeded to discuss the advisability of carrying off some of the children. But the head of the gang decided that it was too dangerous a proposition, and allowed the foreigners to go on their way.

A few days later, other Americans were coming down the canal. Gen. Bei Bao Shan, hearing of this, kindly offered to send an escort of his troops. He also insisted on ordering a steam launch and barge to come up the canal and take us down to the head of steam navigation. The escort consisted of about 100 men, commanded by an officer second only to Gen. Bei himself.

The General insisted on treating us as his guests, and paying all expenses of the trip out of his own pocket. He came to the boat landing to see us off, sat under a little tea shed and chatted quite affably for about an hour. Needless to say, we very much appreciate this gentleman's kindness and courtesy.

Gen. Bei is now out on a punitive expedition against robbers in the Suchien District, and it is to be hoped that conditions there will be considerably improved before he returns to his residence at Haichow. Only three days after reaching Suchien City, he made a good start by shooting 32 bandits.

At that time the old Yellow River was partially filled with water by eight days of terrific rains, probably aggregating more than a foot of rainfall. The road, over which the bodies of executed criminals are carried to their shallow graves in the sand dunes, was under water two or three feet deep. The bodies of these robbers were wrapped in mats, as usual, then tied together in rafts of about five. The persons appointed to bury the bodies tied strings to these rafts, and dragged them along in the water about one li, then pulled them out and buried them in the sand.

Next morning the sand dunes presented the appearance of a queer picnic. Some dozens of people went out with shovels, ropes, mats, etc; dug up the bodies of their friends, and carried them home for proper burial. If the people of North Kiangsu are to be saved from their present pitiful condition, prompt and severe measures will be necessary.

Rosy Reports Of Victories Begin To Puzzle Peking

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 18.—All reports of successes sent by General observers in the south are not true, apparently, for the Government is not entirely satisfied over the situation. Some of the places reported to have been captured by Kwangsi troops from the Kwangtung forces, are still held by the Southern troops.

General Lu Yung-ting however continues to send in rosy reports and he now says that he is going to recapture Wuchow. He has offered a reward of $30,000 to the troops unit that breaks through the defense. Of course the Central Government must pay the reward.

Peking has been unable to get supplies to General Lu as rapidly as it wished and it has also been hampered by a lack of money. With Chang Tso-lin, Wu Pei-fu, Tsao Kun, Lu Yung-ting and others all demanding military expenses at the same time, the government is having its share of trouble. Chang Tso-lin sends his request almost daily and as the custom is established of giving him his money first, the others probably will have to wait.

THIS BABY LOST APPETITE AND WEIGHT

Her Mother Tells Why She Is Now Plump and Strong.

Baby's Own Tablets have cured and helped the development of thousands of little sufferers in many parts of the world. The letter which follows comes from Mrs. John Male, of 41 Cottage Street, Pontiac, Mich., U.S.A.:—

"My baby was very sick from not being able to digest the artificial food which I was forced to give her on account of my poor health," writes Mrs. Male. "I tried many remedies but all in vain, for baby kept pining away. When I was nearly driven to despair I saw an advertisement of Baby's Own Tablets in a drug store and started to use them. The very first I give her made her rest easy, and in the end they saved her life and made her a fine, fat baby. I wish to tell all mothers that have sickly babies to keep this valuable remedy always in the house."

In all cases such as the above Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are of the greatest value. They speedily aid the digestion, regulate the bowels, and dispel colic, dysentery, teething pains, colds, croup and worms. Obtainable from druggists, or post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

English Cricket Weakness Assigned To Poor Bowling

The trouble was that Mr. Bosanquet found it exceedingly difficult to control the ball, and often he sent it bumping down the pitch many yards wide of the batsman. Then the crowd would roar and shout "Take him off!"

Indeed, unless Mr. Bosanquet had been very sure that he had made an important discovery, it is probable that he would have ceased to send down the wrong 'un, and it is just as likely that this new bowling art would have been lost to the game.

ALL IN THE TWIST

Truly cricket has a deal to thank Mr. Bosanquet for. There is no doubt that he was the inventor of the new type of bowling which even today has probably not been developed to the full. Whilst playing a table game with a soft lawn-tennis ball he discovered that it was possible with a leg-break action to impart the opposite spin. At once he realised the importance of this, and he set to work to experiment, but not for five years did he attempt to introduce it in a match.

As Mr. Bosanquet has explained, the secret of the googlie lies in turning the ball over in the hand by dropping the wrist at the moment of delivery, so that the axis of the spin is changed from left to right to right to left. The effect of this is to turn an ordinary leg-break into an off-break.

In the early days players declared that the deception was easily penetrated, but they exaggerated their powers of perception; and even today batsmen are quite at a loss to know which way the ball is going to turn. If there is a master of the googlie, we have always given the distinction to Hobbs; but it was very significant that during the recent tour in Australia, Mailey made a habit of taking his wicket.

To all players the googlie remains the mystery ball of cricket. Happily for batsmen, this type of bowler continues to experience some of the early difficulty of Mr. Bosanquet in controlling length. For this reason he sends down balls which invite a firm punch to the boundary. But whilst the googlie merchant may be expensive for a spell, he usually gets his own back and finishes up on the right side of the ledger.

Even Mr. Bosanquet managed to do this. Indeed, if you search the records you will probably come to the conclusion that he won more than one Test match by his bewildering googlies.

HE IS A MATCH-WINNER

Mailey played a signal part in the success of the Australians against the M.C.C. team "down under," and, naturally, there is a good deal of curiosity as to how he will get on in England. There is not much doubt that he will take a lot of wickets in the matches against the counties; but it is probable that he will find that his bowling does not come off to the same extent as in his own warmer climate.

Moreover, there is a limit to the amount of work that a googlie bowler can undertake. The peculiarity of the style puts a big strain on the fingers, and he cannot be kept on for long stretches. But there is no likelihood of Mailey being overworked.

Armstrong will see to this. As captain, it will be his special care to nurse the man who may succeed when all his other bowlers have been collared. This is the beauty of the googlie. He can get wickets through the subtlety of his art when the pitch is so good that the bowling of other men is harmless.

If English cricket is weak at the present time, it is largely due to the poverty of the bowling, and if we could only find a genuine googlie man, our prospects would at once be greatly improved. He may, as has been stated, be knocked about the field in merciless style whilst he is finding a length, but once he gets it he is a match-winner.

BOWLERS WANTED BADLY

For the lack of first-class bowlers we are probably paying the penalty for the neglect of the young player. In recent years too much importance has been given to the run-getting side of the game. But though it is perhaps a little more fascinating to go in and hit up a good score than to try and get the other fellows out, the googlie has lifted bowling out of the rut, as it were, and given it an attraction which it did not formerly possess.

What is needed is that the boys at the schools should be encouraged to cultivate the art of bowling. We have, of course, had many amateurs who have been fine bowlers, but there is still an impression that the batsmen are the "gentlemen" of the team, and that the bowlers do the donkey work.

Hunan Also Near Canibalism Is Advice To Peking

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, July 19.—The Ministry of the Interior has asked the Government to direct the Ministry of Communications to turn over to it 50 percent of the remaining proceeds from the famine surtax that it may be used for orphanages.

The Provinces of Hunan has also asked for some of the funds saying that unless the famine is relieved the people will become canibals. Hunan has been hard hit by crop failures, it is said and foreigners as well as Chinese fear that the conditions there will become worse unless relief measures are undertaken at once.

Ecuador Sails At Daylight; Empress Tomorrow Evening

The Pacific Mail liner Ecuador arrived at the China Merchants Central Wharf yesterday afternoon on its 22nd. and last voyage from San Francisco. The steamer brought to Shanghai 30 cabin passengers, 1,150 tons of cargo, and 891 bars of silver. The Ecuador sails at daylight tomorrow for Hongkong and Manila.

The Empress of Asia, of the Canadian Pacific line, which left Hongkong Thursday at noon is due off Woosung tomorrow at mid-day. The tender with incoming passengers is expected at the Customs Jetty at 2:30 p.m.; the outbound tender with passengers and mails will leave the jetty at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Mails for the Empress close at the American post-office tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock for registered, and at 2:30 o'clock for ordinary and seaplane.

Money! Money! What IS Money, Anyway?

Anything that is a medium of exchange and measure of value is money.

It can be gold, silver, copper, tin or any other old thing.

As late as 1574 the Dutch made money out of pasteboard.

The Indians used shells and beads; other races have used leather, sheep, goats, cattle, oil, tobacco, and even SALT!

The early English kings had their "moneyers," who traveled with the royal outfit, coining what money was needed as they went.

Present-day LIVE ones know how to coin MONEY out of THE CHINA PRESS WANT ADS!

Send your "want" today to the Classified columns of THE CHINA PRESS! They're inexpensive—and go straight to the mark!

Conseil D'Administration Municipale De La Concession Francaise de Changhai

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1921

(20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each).

Rate of interest 8% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 20,000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on May 30, 1921.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:—

1°—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°—The loan will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st July, 1931 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

3°—The loan will bear interest at 8% per annum, payable on the 30th day of June and 31st of December in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

4°—The property and income of the Municipality, deducting those which serve as security provided in the Municipal Loans of 1903, 1911, 1914 and 1916 are the security for the repayment of the money advanced and for the interest thereon in the present loan.

The Members of the French Municipal Council are not personally liable in any way for the payment of either principal or interests.

5°—Applications for debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat.

A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for must be deposited at the same time.

6°—Applications for Debentures under par will not be recognised by the Council.

7°—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. LEGENDRE, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 1st July, 1921.
P. LEGENDRE,
39234 Secretary.

SHANGHAI-NANKING LINE

Sunday Special Leaves Shanghai North for Henli, Kunshan, Soochow and Wusih as under:

Up train			Down train
Shanghai North	dep.	8.20 a.m.	Wusih	dep.	17.20 p.m.
Henli	arr.	9.24 „	Soochow	„	18.15 „
Kunshan	„	9.34 „	Kunshan	„	18.55 „
Soochow	„	10.28 „	Henli	„	19.13 „
Wusih	„	11.23 „	Shanghai North	arr.	20.10 „

Return Fares Including Famine Relief Tax.

	I class	II class	III class
Shanghai-Henli	$3.40	$1.80	$0.90
Shanghai-Kunshan	3.40	1.80	0.90
Shanghai-Soochow	5.40	2.90	1.60
Shanghai-Wusih	7.40	4.10	2.10

Breakfast is served on the outward journey, tiffin can be ordered on the car in the Railway siding at Henli, and dinner is obtainable on the train during the return trip. Breakfast 75 cents, tiffin $1.50 and dinner $1.50 each.

This excursion affords an excellent opportunity of getting away from town for a day into the beautiful country-side during the best period of the year.

The 10 hours at Henli give ample time for rowing, swimming, or houseboat enjoyment.

At Kunshan the 9½ hours can be enjoyably spent in visiting the Gardens and Pagodas. The latter stand on the summit of Kunshan Hill, inside the city walls and can be reached in half an hour by rickshaws or by walking through the city from Kunshan station.

Soochow is noted for the well kept Private Gardens and also Tiger Hill with its Pagoda on the top, and 8 hours between the arrival and departure of the Sunday Special can be well spent in seeing these places. The city temple and silk shops inside the city are also well worth a visit. There are several Hotels at Soochow, at which foreign food is served.

Wusih city is a great silk center, and the 6 hours before the train is due to return can be filled by taking a trip to Wei Hill, two miles from Wusih Station, which can be easily reached by rickshaw, sedan chair or boat in the course of an hour. Those who climb to the top of the Hill will be rewarded with a magnificent view of Wusih city, and the Great Ta Hu Lake.

Time-tables and copies of illustrated pamphlets giving full information in regard to the above, and other points of interest can be obtained on application at the Enquiry Office Shanghai North. Seats on the train can be reserved by telephoning North 3199.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

July 21, 1921

Spot bar silver was down 3/8d. for ready and 1/4d. for forward-ed in London yesterday. The York price is unchanged.

The London-New York cross rate is down to 358½.

The official Sterling and Gold Dollar rates here remained un-changed.

Business was done at 3/8¾ for cash and July and 3/8½ for August in Sterling and in Gold Dollars at 66½ for July and 66¼ for August was done in the morning.

During the afternoon the market firmed up considerably with sellers at 3/9 for Sterling and 67 for Gold Dollars, delivery July.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending July 20:

Exchange:—The London price of Silver at 37⅝d. is ⅜d. higher than last week. China has stopped buying and from recent advices the market appears to be neglected. In our exchange market the demand for cash continued and our rate for T.T. on London went to 3/8d. but followed the reaction in Silver to 3/7½d. at which we close firm for July/August delivery but weak forward, with very little business passing.

Our stocks of Silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 28,980,000, a decrease of Tls. 1,105,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $26,030,000, an increase of $400,000.

Estimated value in Taels Tls. 47,721,000 as against Tls. 51,082,000 held at this time last year.

Japan To "Civilise" Administration Of South Sea Islands

April 1 Is Date Chosen Which May Turn Out Joke On Natives Thereof

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 19.—It is reliably reported that the civil administration of the South Sea mandatory Islands will be inaugurated on April 1, 1922.

These islands have been administered by the Japanese Navy Department and comprise a source of considerable revenue, so large in fact that the Japanese press for some weeks was filled with demands that the Navy turn over the receipts to the Imperial treasury. This controversy arose regarding the Island of Angaur, one of the Peleu group on which is the only commercially important deposit of phosphate rock in the Pacific. Before the war it was private German property and is understood to be one of the items regarding which Japan does not care to make an accounting and is said to be delaying the turning back of enemy properties.

Hupeh Governors Plan University

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, July 16.—The military and civil governors of Hupeh, General Wang Chan-yuan and Mr. Liu Tsen-un, are establishing an educational institution of higher learning to be known as Aochow University. The new University will be housed in the building of the old Lianghu College of the Manchu regime in Wuchang, and the fund appropriated by the governors for its organisation is $400,000.

In the official proclamation, the governors declare that as Aochow (Hupeh Province) is the center of a network of railway lines and navigation routes in the country it should be made the leading educational center on the Yangtze Valley. Expressing their regret at seeing educational work done by the government degenerating, they say they are both of the opinion that reconstruction could not be possible without good education.

The committee appointed to take charge of the work are Mr. Wei Lien-fang, Chief of the Finance Bureau, Mr. Lou Chih-tze, Provincial Educational Director, and Mr. Hu Kung-ao, Chief of the General Department. To authenticate the work of the committee, the governors have already granted an official seal of Provincial Aochow University.

SHANGHAI, JULY 22, 1921

WEATHER

The typhoon advances but very slowly, and will cause rough weather around Formosa, and to the South of the Eastern Sea. The cyclone of the Marianas will also probably advance towards the Loochoos. Summer monsoon on the Yellow Sea.

Japan's Economic Interests In Siberia

ONE of the legends with which students of Far Eastern Affairs are familiar is the legend of Japan's economic interests in Siberia. This legend, like the race equality resolution at the Peace Conference, is simply a product of the Japanese imagination. The Japanese representatives would have been non-plussed had the Peace Conference at Paris accepted the race equality resolution, for its acceptance would have implied on Japan's part a moral obligation to treat Formosans, Koreans, Ainus and possibly even Chinese on a level of equality with Japanese. The resolution served its purpose, however, and the legend of Japanese economic interest in Siberia has up to the present served its purpose very well.

There have been advanced by the spokesmen of Japan two principal reasons why Japanese troops have not been withdrawn from Siberia, the one reason political and the other economic. The political argument has been that Japan could not allow the political and social ideals on which democracy in Russia is established to approach so near as Siberia, since to do so would be to expose the proletariat in Japan to the danger of infection, and once the disease of democracy entered Japan there was no knowing how soon the whole body politic would be corrupted and suffer what might become a close similitude to a violent death.

The second argument was economic, and took two forms. On the one hand, it was argued that Japanese trade with Siberia was vitally important to the economic welfare of Japan; and, on the other hand, it was contended that from Siberia, as from Manchuria and Korea, Japan drew supplies of raw material for manufacturing purposes. It was hoped that nobody would take the trouble to ask point blank the question what was the exact value, in Japanese currency, of the trade of Japan with Asiatic Russia. The moment an answer to this question is given it is realised what a grotesque legend the economic interests of Japan in Siberia are. The following figures, covering the period 1913-1920 are derived from Japanese official publications:

Year	Exports to Siberia Yen.	Imports from Siberia Yen.
1913	4,271,413	750,486
1914	10,413,147	1,025,695
1915	78,299,178	3,564,492
1916	117,299,478	1,774,216
1917	74,234,145	3,755,283
1918	40,034,435	4,366,624
1919	70,958,261	4,924,98[illegible]
1920	22,880,772	3,831,684

At first sight one might think that these figures indicated an enormous expansion of Russo-Japanese trade activities; but a brief examination is sufficient to show that this is not the case. Take first the figures for Japanese exports to Asiatic Russia. From a negligible value of four and a quarter million yen in 1913, the last ante-bellum year, the value mounted to one hundred and seventeen million yen in 1916. This enormous increase was due almost entirely to supplies of arms, ammunition, and other war material shipped from Japan to Russia, the enormous profits that Japan made out of this trade being the measure of Japan's sacrifice in the Allied cause.

It will be noticed that there was a great drop from the 1916 figure to the 1918 figure, which is accounted for by the fact that for the time being it seemed as if Russia were out of the War and might not be either able to pay for the materials she had had or willing to purchase future supplies, and Japanese enthusiasm for the Allied cause was not sufficiently keen to induce her to go on supplying goods that might never be paid for. The revival of Japanese exports to Asiatic Russia in 1919 is explained by the necessity under which the American, British, Japanese and other Allied forces sent to Siberia to assist in the evacuation of the Czechs were of provisioning themselves largely from Japan; and the drop from the 1919 figures to those of 1920 is explained by the withdrawal of all the Allied forces except the Japanese. The Japanese trade returns for the first four months of 1921 only show a total export to Asiatic Russia valued at Yen 2,750,000 which probably forecasts a value for the year of a good deal less than Yen 10,000,000.

Turning to the trade in the other direction, Japan's imports from Asiatic Russia, it will be noticed that never has the total risen to the value of Yen 5,000,000. And even this trade is very largely adventitious. Instead of the agricultural produce, furs, and similar commodities that one would expect Japan to be purchasing from a region which she claims is so important for her national existence that she is justified in a military occupation thereof, in actual fact a very large proportion of the trade consists of Chile nitre and other stores imported into Vladivostok for war purposes, and afterwards picked up in odd lots and resold to Japan. A trade of this nature, of course, does not contain even the first elements of a healthy commerce, and it could not by any stretch of imagination be regarded as a vital necessity to the national existence or the economic life of Japan.

This state of affairs is bound to last as long as the military occupation continues. It is possible that when once the military are cleared out a profitable trade may spring up between Japan and Asiatic Russia; but at present anything of the sort is impossible. The railways are and have for a long time been controlled by the Japanese expeditionary force, and this was the immediate cause of the disorganisation of Kolchak's army, and a contributing factor in Kolchak's ultimate downfall and death. At present the Japanese forces stationed at Vladivostok are preventing the westward movement of trains on the ground of military necessity, with the result that commodities imported from Japan are lying idle in the godowns. The commandeering of trains is paralysing trade in every direction, and such is the disastrous condition to which trade in Vladivostok has been reduced that the Japanese merchants there complain that present conditions continue the military occupation will not fulfil its avowed object of protecting the Japanese residents but will, on the contrary, ruin them.

HELP!

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—So many people ask questions of you, I am sure you must be a busy man, but won't you please ask everybody if anybody knows how to kill fleas on a cat without taking off the hair or killing the cat. My Mimi has long hair and fleas, millions of fleas, and flea powder does no good. She has a daily bath, but that does not hurt the fleas. What can we do? Poor Mimi may have some kittens soon and it would be terrible if they had fleas too.

My mamma says you will not print this, but I hope you will, so we can get rid of those fleas.

BOLSHEVISM AND GRAND OPERA

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: As a lover of music and fine song firstly, and as a Russian, I hope of the better class; secondly, I must congratulate you on the generous support you have given the Russian Grand Opera Company which is now playing in your city. Your paper alone has appreciated this company of artistes at their true worth.

In that same connection I would like to call to the attention of the English reading public in Shanghai the fact that local Russian newspapers have practically withheld supporting comment on the merits of this fine company, and to make known briefly the reasons therefore.

The old fault of my own countrymen—lack of patriotic unity, and that fault of all mankind—jealousy, are at the root. The Grand Opera company are not interested or involved in politics. Or to say it another way: they are not of any particular faction of Russian politics. It is because of this, chiefly, that local Russian papers, especially the Bolshevik organ, have nothing good to say for it.

The Opera artistes, if of any political tendency, are certainly not in favor of Bolshevism, and Bolshevistic journals, knowing this, are not in favor of these 80 talented artistes. It is another evidence of the Russian's lack of patriotic unity—it is another evidence of the Bolshevik's lack of appreciation or disdain for real Russian culture and art. As for other Shanghai Russian journals, a little of jealousy becomes the influencing factor. It is better not to speak much of this phase.

Again, as a Russian, I must thank you. I am glad to become so well acquainted with you through your treatment of this group of artistes from my home land.

Very Truly,
"PRAVDA."

THE HOSPITAL AND NOISE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—The co-operation of Municipal authorities, the Tramway Company and Shanghai automobilists should be obtained by the Shanghai General Hospital in order that more consideration may be shown patients at the institution. I understand that the hospital has taken the matter up with the proper sources but that nothing can be done.

Tram cars rumble by at high speed at all hours of the night, chauffeurs honk their horns and press their klaxons with enthusiasm not shared by the patients, and motormen seem to figure that bells must be rung often while passing the hospital.

Since the Szechuen Road Bridge has been closed, all traffic from North Szechuen Road theaters must pass the hospital while the Summer joy riders to Hongkew also honk along North Soochow Road a few yards from the hospital.

It is disagreeable for patients who are seriously ill and need sleep, to fight noise at midnight.

A simple order from the Tramway Company would mean that bells would not ring and tram cars would cut their speed to three miles an hour. Garages and owners of private cars could instruct their chauffeurs to refrain from blowing horns while passing the hospital.

I am sure that patients at the hospital would be deeply grateful to the Tramway Company and automobile owners. Enclosing my card, I am, Respectfully yours,

CONVALESCENT.

DEAD CONSTABLES VS DEAD SHOPKEEPERS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—Shakespeare said "Comparisons are Odious." So say we about the comparison drawn by the Commissioner of Police in his report in yesterday's Municipal Gazette on the attitude of the Street Unions towards the shooting of two constables in front of the New World on June 19 with that towards the shooting of the two shopkeepers on North Szechuen Road on June 5.

The worthy commissioner has maintained the very democratic view, perhaps for the first time, that his favored constables are on the same level as the shopkeepers, but he has forgotten that the Chinese shop assistants were shot down in cool blood. They were not given a chance to protect themselves while the constables are well armed and are always supposed to be on the alert to look out for criminals especially in front of the New World. Enclosing my card, I am.

TABLE TOPICS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: What we do not discuss at the dinner table seems to be everything interesting under heaven, if one reads aright the article by Miss Elsie McCormick, appearing in your issue for July 20.

Here is slumber! Here is mental summer fallow! Here at last is a real city whose self-determination program includes a comfortable allowance for the hot weather slump of Dame Wit, and Father Intellect!

But is it true? A newcomer cannot judge, especially when he has sat through one dinner enlivened by the raillery of two chemical experts on Chinese soda ash and another seance on the whichness of why in Peking politics.

The writer's suggestion for a ready-to-wear phrase book of answers to orthodox dinner table questions is a touch of mid-summer madness. But it is also ingenious. Think of it, one can really go to dinner and enjoy the food! He does not have to be intelligent, much less amusing.

With a cursory knowledge of the phrase book he can casually say: "See remark seven, page 18," and go on munching cheese with the oblivious contentment of the bovine in a plentiful and shady pasture. It is a logical addition to the automatic telephones and collapsible appartments of our fast living age. Besides, it would give more time to the absorbing business of getting outside the rations of alcohol.

Miss McCormick asks us to sigh for a Madame Recamier to delight our love of the spectacular with conversational skyrockets from the chaise longue. But alas, that peeress of wit ever dwelt on high, spoke in epigrams of the politics of Olympus, and smiled approval over many a young gallant's sugared similes concerning the light that lies, and lies, and ever lies. We must be content with subjects which can float on the Whangpoo.

There is no reference to the topics discussed at the snug little club dinners. Perhaps such omission is proper. Miss McCormick may not know the burning, eternal subjects at such functions, but a shrewd guess tells her that they do not concern "ships, and shoes, and sealing wax."

The day of a new autocrat of the dinner table seems to be at hand. An effort should be made to reburnish the conversational scutcheon of Shanghai society. The natural brilliance is smothered under the stifling stupor of the hot weather blight.

May I suggest an antidote for this poisonous lethargy? It would be that you conduct a half column daily of possible table topics. The dinner guests at Mrs. So and So's party would then have subjects to masticate between mouthsful of cutlet, and the vivisected subjects of servants, ocean trips, and length of stay in Shanghai would be relegated to the list expurgatorius.

For instance I notice several lively incidents recorded in your paper this morning.

An immense fish has been caught in the water hazard of the Hongkew golf course. Imagine the dinner scene tonight at Mrs. A's. Little Miss P. wonders why the authorities allowed such a prize specimen to subsist on golf balls when there are so many unnecessary frogs croaking out Bubbling Well way. Clever Mr. Q, who went to Sunday School when he was in short pants, refers to a certain whale's lack of taste in swallowing Jonah. Then in comes indignant Mr. Z., with his basso profundo, to moralise by saying we may soon see a stray hippopotamus wallowing in the verbena beds of the public garden if steps are not taken to erect barriers in Shanghai against the denizens of the deep. And thus the conversation becomes sparkling, almost incandescent.

Again, one reads that every dog who is to have his day in Frenchtown better be celebrating it pretty soon, for the dog catcher is on the loose with a gun. Dogs and their ceaseless care to householders should forthwith supplant the premier place given to amahs in former feasts of reason.

China is to have a new national anthem. Surely omniscient Mr. S. can tell of the absolute impossibility for a male voice to hit the roof in the Star Spangled Banner, that Uraguay has an anthem running to 70 verses, causing the soldiers to swear, and the standing crowd at the theater to murmur things not in the script.

The list of table topics in a single issue of the newspaper is endless. Why is Germany furious today after a quiet repose in the shade yesterday, why is Admiral Sims again on the griddle, what is the matter with Athens rejoicing over her Pyrrhic victories? One might even question the opinon of the civic doctors that Shanghai is blessed with "sanitary intelligence" because its people eat lightly, drink daintily, and wear cotton instead of wool in the hot weather.

Such topics should waft the good ship Conversation out of the doldrums; and there are fresh breezes of cosmic import every day. Yours, Sir, for dinner sparkle.

"YOU SHOULD HAVE WON THE WAR"

In "A Woman's Watch on the Rhine," by Violet Markham, a book which deals with the occupation of Germany by the Allies, is an amusing story of a German baroness who was discovered speechless with rage by the English officer's wife billeted in her house.

Never in the whole of her life, she declared, had she been so insulted, and by an English Tommy, too.

Inquiries were made, for batmen and orderlies are not allowed to be rude to German householders. It then transpired that the baroness had found two English soldiers belonging to the household sliding down the back stairs and whistling.

The lady spoke sharply to them and told them that whistling and sliding down stairs were "verboten."

Whereupon Thomas Atkins genial and undefeated, his hand on the rail of the stair, turned to the angry baroness and remarked pleasantly:

"Aye, missus, but yer should have won the war, and then yer could have come and slid down our backstairs and whistled."

THE GLOOMY DEAN'S SMILES

Dean Inge is not always gloomy. A little time ago, in order to disprove the popular opinion about him, he allowed himself to be photographed smiling, and he even went as far as to make others smile by relating some school-boy howlers which had come under his notice.

"Christians are only allowed one wife. This is called monotony." A young Etonian was responsible for this reflection.

Another small Etonian, struggling over his translation, wrote: "If any man shall smite thee on the right cheek, smite him on the other also."

"Some of the best fossils are found in theological cabinets." Is not bad.

A FEMININE RIVER

For a quarter of an hour the master had been giving examples of the names of rivers which in Greek were feminine, when he noticed one boy, blissfully unconscious of the mental edification he was missing, contemplating the beauties of nature through the classroom window.

"Jones," he roared, "give me a feminine river!"

The dreamer stirred and in a flash of inspiration answered: "Sir! the—the—Mississippi, sir!"

REFLECTIONS

A man's anger, like a cigarette, burns itself out and goes up in smoke; a woman's simmers and simmers, and then boils over in tears.

The mere act of marrying a woman, and handing over his freedom, his name and all his bachelor comforts in return for a kiss, is the most sublimely unselfish deed in a man's life—and sometimes the only one.

CUSHY JOBS

The following story found its way through Clubland recently—whether it is true or not is not determined. A high official of the Ministry of Health was invited to a luncheon in the City, and his host treated him well. Everything that so important a person should have was offered, and at the conclusion of the meal the generous host offered him a cup of coffee.

"Coffee!" said the high and mighty official, "Bless my soul, no!"

"Won't you really?" pressed the host.

"My dear sir, I've got to get back to the office," protested the official—"Coffee would keep me awake all the afternoon!"

Ruling In New World Case

The Hsien Nieh New World Co.
Et Al,
Plaintiffs,
v.
The Tobacco Products Corporation
Defendant.
Cause No. 1369.
Order Filed July 21, 1921.
Deputy Clerk.

SYLLABUS.

1.—Pleading: A General Demurrer will not lie to a pleading which states a cause of action for any relief.

2.—Id.: The Prayer is not affected by a demurrer.

3.—Actions: Time of Commencing: Malicious Prosecution is not ordinarily actionable until a judgment has been rendered in favor of the complaining party.

Paul F. Faison, Esq. (Substituting Fleming, Davies and Bryan) for the demurrer.

James Ross, Esq., contra.

Lobingier, J.

The defendant demurs to a petition alleging three causes of action. The demurrer contains grounds relating to the petition as a whole but these are practically abandoned and the sole ground urged in argument is that each of the three alleged causes of action is insufficiently stated.

The first cause of action alleges that "plaintiff is an unregistered Chinese company or partnership" (Par. 1)

"with shareholders whose rights are defined and protected by the rules and regulations of the said company printed on the face of the said Company's share certificates, a translation of which said rules and regulations is hereto attached, marked Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof" (Par. 3)

"That at all times herein mentioned Loh Sih-hou was the duly constituted and acting agent and representative, to wit: the compradore, of the Defendant." (Par. 5)

"That on the 8th day of March, 1920, a certain instrument in writing written in the Chinese language and purporting to be a power-of-attorney to the said Loh Sih-hou to act alone in the management of the Plaintiff. The Hsien Nieh New World Co., was signed by the then directors of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co., which said instrument and the said act of the said directors were ultra vires the rules and regulations of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co." (Par. 7)

"On the 18th day of May, 1920, a certain instrument in writing purporting to be a deed of mortgage was purported to be made between the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. under the hand of the said Loh Sih Hou purporting and pretending to act for the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co., of the one part, but in truth and in fact acting without authority, and with the intent to deceive and defraud Plaintiffs, and the Defendant, of the other part, whereby the whole of the premises, buildings, properties, estates, assets and good will of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. were purported to be mortgaged to the Defendant for a term expiring on the 31st day of December, 1921 (unless sooner determined by three months notice on either side) to secure the payment by the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. to the Defendant of the sum of $161,000.00 without interest" (Par. 8)

"That on the said 18th day of May, 1920, a certain other instrument in writing was signed by the said Loh Sih-hou, the latter purporting and pretending to act, as hereinbefore alleged, for the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co., but in truth and in fact acting without authority, and with the intent to deceive and defraud Plaintiffs, which said instrument purported to be a contract between the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. and the Defendant, whereby the former purported to undertake and agree to sell the latter's cigarettes, and no others, within the premises of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. for a period of ten (10) years from the date of the said instrument, and containing other terms and conditions highly advantageous to Defendant and disadvantageous and burdensome to Plaintiffs. That the said instrument contained, inter alia, the condition that the said Loh Sih-hou, or some other person approved of in writing by Defendant, should continue to be the managing director of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co." (Par. 9)

"That on or about the 7th day of February, 1921, Plaintiffs tendered to the defendant the sum of $217,938.52 in full payment of the purported obligations purporting and pretending to be created by the hereinabove mentioned fraudulent acts of the said Loh Sih-hou, which said tender was refused by Defendant, whereupon Plaintiffs on the 24th day of February, 1921, offered in writing to Defendant, and demanded the right to pay off the full amount of the alleged indebtedness purporting to be secured by the said instrument, Exhibit 'B,' which offer and demand were also refused by the said Defendant" (Par. 10)

"That on some date unknown to Plaintiffs, during the year 1920, but prior to the 20th day of October, 1920, the Defendant entered upon the premises of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co. and then and there wrongfully seized the said premises and continued wrongfully and unlawfully to withhold possession of the said premises from Plaintiffs until the 5th day of May, 1921.'" (Par. 11)

"That on the 5th day of May, 1921, while the two suits hereinabove mentioned were pending in this Honorable Court, the Plaintiff, The Hsien Nieh New World Co., by three of its Directors, the said directors acting under duress of threats of prolonged litigation, and of damage to and ultimate ruin of the business of the said The Hsien Nieh New World Co., and the defendant, by its duly authorised representative, signed a certain instrument in writing, a copy of which is hereto attached, marked Exhibit "I", and made a part hereof. (Par. 12).

"That the sole reason for the signing of the said instrument by Plaintiff, The Hsien Nieh New World Co., was, as Defendant well knew, the fear on the part of Plaintiffs of prolonged litigation, costs, expenses and injury to and ruin of their business and credit as the result of such litigation and of the continuation of the unlawful and fraudulent acts of the Defendant and its representative Loh Sih-hou, and another hereinafter mentioned. That the said pretended contract was without consideration, and was unduly burdensome, oppressive and unconscionable." (Par. 13).

"That between the 18th day of May, 1920, and the 5th day of May, 1921, while the Defendant by its agent and representative, Loh Sih-hou, was in possession of the Plaintiffs' premises and properties as hereinabove alleged, the said Defendant, by its said agent and representative, Loh Sih-hou, in violation of its duties and obligations to the said Plaintiffs, and with the intent to deceive and defraud Plaintiffs and to injure their said business, conducted the management of Plaintiffs' business in an extravagant and wasteful manner, allowed Plaintiffs properties to deteriorate, committed waste and depredations thereon, and caused sundry and divers defective and illegal constructions to be placed upon the said premises, and committed sundry and divers other breaches of trust, as alleged mortgagees in possession." (Par. 14)

"That each and all of the acts hereinabove alleged to have been done and performed by the said Loh Sih-hou were done and performed by the said Loh Sih-hou in his capacity as representative and agent of the Defendant, and with the said Defendant's knowledge, consent and approval." (Par. 15).

In argument defendant's counsel directs his attention mainly to the terms of Paragraph 13 above quoted, contending that the alleged threat of litigation could not constitute duress because defendant had a right to sue.

The common law requirements of duress however have been somewhat relaxed in federal jurisdictions. Duress of the person is no longer necessary; duress of goods is now sufficient. But whether the averments of Paragraph 13 are sufficient to show duress in this case we need not here determine; for the rule in that "If the facts stated in the complaint entitle the plaintiff to any relief, a demurrer for want of sufficient facts will not be sustained."

It will be seen that those portions of the petition already quoted set forth many other grounds of relief than duress. They allege the execution by the directors of a power of attorney which contravenes regulations recited in an exhibit; the execution of an unauthorised and fraudulent mortgage and contract, the latter containing the unlawful condition that a certain person "should continue to be the managing director;" the unlawful and wrongful entry of the premises; the execution of a pretended compromise without consideration; the wasteful conduct of the business, etc. All of these averments are admitted by the demurrer for with the attached exhibits containing the details of each transaction we do not think they can be treated as conclusions of law. Besides, as stated in the work cited by counsel, where "such defect can be reached by a motion to make more specific the objection cannot be taken by demurrer."

Now it would seem quite arbitrary to hold that none of these averments thus admitted entitle plaintiff to any relief. It may be that the precise relief prayed for is not justified but a demurrer does not reach the prayer.

If this cause of action states a ground for any relief (and we cannot say that it does not) the Court must award it regardless of what the prayer may be.

In the second cause of action it is alleged that defendant caused the municipal licenses for defendant's business to be issued in the name of defendant's agents who then

"with the deliberate and malicious intent to injure and damage the business of Plaintiffs, surrendered said licenses, by reason whereof, and due to the depredations and defective and illegal construction committed and placed upon the said premises as hereinbefore alleged., Plaintiffs' said place of business was closed by order of the Municipal authorities of Shanghai and still remains closed, to the damage of Plaintiffs in the sum of Tls. 2,000.00 per day from the 10th day of May, 1921." (Par. 2, p.8).

It is claimed that defendant and its agents were here acting under the authority of the contracts already mentioned. But these contracts are alleged and admitted by the demurrer to be either ultra vires or without consideration. Besides the surrender is alleged to have been "with the deliberate and malicious intent to injure," etc. We do not think in the face of this averment that we could hold the second cause of action insufficient for any relief.

The third cause of action alleges the commencement of certain actions by defendant against plaintiff in the International Mixed Court in which the allegations "were known to be false and untrue" and "were filed with the deliberate and malicious intent of injuring and damaging plaintiffs" etc. There is no averment that these actions have ever been terminated and the rule is that a malicious prosecution is not actionable until judgment has been rendered. There is indeed an exception.

"where the proceedings complained of were ex parte and plaintiff had no opportunity of being heard, as in cases of malicious attachment."

But it is not claimed that any such were the circumstances here.

The demurrer as to the third cause of action is accordingly sustained but is over-ruled as to the first and second causes and defendant is given ten days to answer said causes.

By the Court,
Charles S. Lobingier,
Judge.

TOM MOORE
in
"A MAN AND HIS MONEY"

A Comedy Drama by Frederick S. Isham.

The plot is ingenious, charming, surprising, and the star is seen throughout the play in the smartest of smart society.

Polo matches, fashionable country clubs, dashing clothes—these are the details of a brilliant picturisation of a capital story.
